PART I

Item 1. BUSINESS

Ebix, Inc. (the Company), which changed its name from ebix.com, Inc. on December 30, 2003, was founded in 1976 as Delphi Systems, Inc., a California corporation. In this report, Ebix, Inc. is referred to as the Company, while Ebix.com (Ebix.com is a registered trademark of Ebix, Inc.) refers to the Company's website.

The Company is an international provider of software and Internet-based solutions for the insurance industry. International revenue accounted for 37%, 33% and 31% of total revenue in 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively. Historically and during 2005, the Company's revenue has been derived primarily from professional and support services (95% of revenue in 2005) and from the licensing and sale of software comprised of proprietary software and third-party software (5% of revenue in 2005). Professional services and support include software development projects, transaction based fees, fees for software license maintenance, initial registration and ongoing monthly subscription fees from the EbixASP product and business process outsourcing revenue. Also included in professional services and support are fees for consulting, implementation, training, and project management provided to the Company's customers with installed systems and those in the process of installing systems.

On February 23, 2004 the Company acquired LifeLink Corporation (LifeLink) located in Park City, Utah. LifeLink markets a number of software products that provide sales illustrations and quote comparison services to insurance carriers and wholesalers operating in the life insurance and long-term care markets. The Company acquired all of the outstanding stock of LifeLink from its shareholders in exchange for an aggregate purchase price of $10,354,000, payable in cash and stock. See note 13 to the consolidated financial statements included in this Form 10-K. The acquisition of LifeLink has provided the Company with an entrée to the life insurance segment of the insurance market from both the agent/broker and carrier perspective. On May 2, 2005, the LifeLink name was changed to EbixLife Inc. (EbixLife).

On July 1, 2004, Ebix Australia Pty Ltd (VIC), which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, acquired certain operating assets of Heart Consulting Services Pty Ltd (Heart). Heart was a broker systems vendor in Australia that provided end-to-end ASP broker systems to more than 650 brokers in Australia. Under terms of the agreement, the Company acquired the operating assets of Heart in exchange for an aggregate purchase price of $7,116,000 payable in cash, letters of credit and stock. See note 14 to the consolidated financial statements included in this Form 10-K. The acquisition of Heart provided us with a significant share of the smaller broker market in Australia, substantially raising our overall insurance broker market share in Australia. Prior to the acquisition of certain assets of Heart, the Company had a large share of the mid-sized broker market in Australia.

Information on the Company's revenues, net income and fixed assets in different geographic areas is furnished in note 12 to the consolidated financial statements, included elsewhere in this Form 10-K.

Industry overview The insurance industry has undergone significant consolidation over the past several years driven by the need for, and benefits from, economies of scale and scope in providing insurance in a competitive environment. Consolidation has involved both insurance carriers and insurance brokers and is directly impacting the manner in which insurance products are distributed. Management believes the insurance industry will continue to experience significant changes in the next several years to meet the changing distribution model. Changes in the insurance industry may create both opportunities and challenges for the Company.

Business and Growth Strategy The Company intends to grow its business in the future both organically and through additional synergistic acquisitions. Over the past year the Company has emphasized its software development business along with identifying synergistic acquisitions, while decreasing its emphasis on businesses having more intense competition such as business process outsourcing and call center.

Products and Services The Company's product and service strategy focuses on the following five areas: (1) providing software development services to insurance carriers, brokers and agents; (2) worldwide sale, customization, development, implementation and support of its insurance carrier system product, named Business Reinsurance and Insurance Company System (BRICS); (3) worldwide sales and support of agency management systems including EbixASP and eGlobal; (4) expansion of connectivity between consumers, agents, carriers, and third party providers through its exchange family of products worldwide namely, EbixLife and EbixExchange; and (5) business process outsourcing services, which include call center and back office, either off site or at the Company's facilities. Software delivered online through application service provider (ASP) models and connectivity products are recorded as services by the Company. The Company anticipates that future revenue will be provided principally by development services, system sales, the sale and licensing of BRICS, international operations, EbixLife, EbixExchange, call center services and support.

The Company provides development consulting to brokers, carriers and agents. Some of the Company's recent projects for clients include: development of a reinsurance exchange for a European company; design and development of a carrier system over the web for a large European company; design and development of a carrier system for a U.S. company; and development of an online application, underwriting, policy issuance, and claims system for an insurance carrier; development of bank assurance system for an international broker/banker; and development and deployment of new exchange functionality in Australia, etc. In addition, the Company has developed call center and business process outsource operations for large brokers, insurance companies and retail brokers.

EbixLife markets a number of software products that provide sales illustrations and quote comparison services to insurance carriers and wholesalers operating in the life insurance, annuity and long-term care markets. The assets of EbixLife acquired by the Company were utilized by EbixLife in connection with the life insurance sales software applications business, and the Company intends to continue such use of these assets into the foreseeable future.

In 2001, the Company began marketing the EbixASP product to beta customers, and it became available to the general public in 2002. EbixASP is a web-enabled system for insurance agencies to manage their businesses. EbixASP is sold both as a hosted and a self-hosted product. Revenues generated from the sale of EbixASP hosted by the Company are recorded in services revenue, while revenues generated from the sale of self-hosted EbixASP are recorded in software revenue. The Company-hosted product generates revenues through initial registration and ongoing monthly subscription fees based on the number of personnel accessing the software. As a result of the Company's acquisition of certain assets of Heart in July 2004, the Company focuses on providing ASP based broker systems to small and midsize brokers in the Australian market.

Ebix.mall generates revenues through transaction fees billed to insurance agencies and carriers who use the Ebix.com website.

The product BRICS refers to custom software development of systems for insurance carriers on a contractual basis. These systems are unique for each customer and are client hosted.

EbixExchange is an Internet based service developed by the Company to facilitate connectivity for upload, download, and data exchange between carriers, agents and third party providers and is part of the total revenue generation from the other product offerings, which feature EbixExchange as part of their technology. The service was completed in late 2002 and is currently being used for the download function in EbixASP and the rating functionality in the Company's business to consumer exchange, Ebix.mall. In May 2001, the Company purchased the INS-Site product line. The INS-Site product line could be characterized as an earlier model of EbixExchange, facilitating carrier-to-agent workflow such as download of policy information, upload of new business or policy change requests, as well as agent inquiry of key policy information such as status, billing and claims. INS-Site generates revenue through hosting and service fees.

The Company also continues to provide its agency management software product line, which is comprised of eGlobal, a modular agency management solution providing flexibility and the ability to handle unstructured data and complex risk, and Ebix.one, a structured system utilizing many features of the Company's previous products. The Company also continues to support but no longer sells six legacy products: INfinity, INSIGHT, PC-ELITE, Inurnet, SMART, and Vista. The legacy products provide basic functions such as policy administration, claims handling, accounting, and financial reporting. The Company expects to maintain and support the legacy products as long as it believes there is adequate economic and strategic justification. The Company will continue to encourage customers utilizing legacy products to migrate to newer products.

The software products offered by the Company range in price from $85 per month per seat to $2,700 per license, depending on whether the customers are obtaining the products through a service hosted by the Company or hosting the products themselves, and the total contract value for certain multiple-site global brokers can be over $1,000,000. For the years ended December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004, Brit Insurance Holdings PLC (Brit) and its affiliates, accounted for approximately 16% and 18%, respectively, of consolidated revenue. See note 2 to the consolidated financial statements included in this Form 10-K. In addition to Brit and its affiliates, one customer, AON, accounted for approximately 11% of consolidated revenue for the year ended December 31, 2003. AON accounted for less than 10% of the consolidated revenue for the years ended December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004.

System Design and Architecture The Company's new product offerings utilize the latest Internet based architecture.

eGlobal is a client/server based system, which runs on an Oracle relational database software technology. Ebix.one is operational on Pervasive database software.

EbixASP is an e-commerce enabled agency management system that can be hosted on an ASP basis by the Company or licensed to a customer to self-host. The product is hosted by the Company at a fully managed hosting facility, Sungard eSourcing (Sungard), using a MS-SQL server, Microsoft ASP on multiple servers in a load balanced environment with redundancy in terms of back ups and downtime. All agencies using EbixASP need only one software product, Microsoft Internet Explorer, as the back end software is hosted at Sungard.

BRICS is a Microsoft dot net based system that can be hosted on an ASP basis by the Company or licensed to the customer on a self-hosted basis.

EbixExchange operates on Microsoft dot net technology.

INS-Site is one of the products offered by Ebix under the EbixExchange family of products. This product allows insurance data to be downloaded from and into multiple insurance company systems automatically. This product is hosted by the Company.

EbixLife's WinFlex is a life insurance sales presentation system. The product is hosted by the Company at a fully managed hosting facility, Consonus, using a MS-SQL server, Microsoft ASP on multiple servers in a load balanced environment with redundancy in terms of back ups and downtime.

Backlog There was no significant backlog as of December 31, 2005 or December 31, 2004.

Product Development At December 31, 2005, the Company employed 95 (72 international and 23 domestic) full-time employees engaged in product development activities. These activities include research and development of software enhancements such as adding functionality, improving usefulness, increasing responsiveness, adapting to newer software and hardware technologies and developing and maintaining the website. Development of custom software enhancements for customers can be used in system development for other customers.

The Company's development focus is in four areas: (i) continued enhancement of EbixASP and eGlobal, (ii) developing technology for insurance carriers, brokers and agents, including, in some cases, hosting the systems developed, (iii) continued enhancement of EbixExchange, and (iv) continued maintenance of the Ebix.com website.

Product development expenditures were $3,258,000, $3,016,000 and $1,552,000 in 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively. Increases in product development are a result of the acquisition of EbixLife in 2004 and an increase in developers internationally. Product development expenditures related to general product development and specific projects for clients.

Competition Management believes its principal competition varies by each area of focus.

In the area of connectivity, the Company competes with a large carrier owned network that provides transaction connections to agents and carriers, and in-house systems developed by carriers. In addition, the Company competes, to a much lesser extent, with operators of several smaller websites that enter and leave the market on a regular basis.

Key competitive features in the area of connectivity include: (1) ability to complete end-to-end conversion of data between systems and from input to policy issuance, (2) offerings and services for both personal and commercial lines, (3) affording insurance customers a marketplace in which insurance can be priced on an objective, competitive basis, and (4) ability to complete transactions online for insurance customers, agents, and carriers. Management believes that, overall, with respect to Ebix.com, INS-Site, and EbixExchange, the Company competes favorably with respect to these factors.

In the area of agency management systems, while the Company believes that EbixASP provides a strategic advantage for the Company, two companies provide client/server software which are in competition with those historically offered by the Company. These companies are larger than the Company and may have greater resources. Additionally, certain large hardware suppliers sell systems and system components to independent agencies. The Company also experiences competition to a much lesser extent from small, independent or freelance developers and suppliers of software who sometimes work in concert with hardware providers to supply systems to independent agencies.

The Company believes that some insurance carriers continue to operate subsidiaries that actively compete with the Company to provide agency systems to their in-house agency or brokerage efforts. These carriers generally have much greater financial resources than the Company and have in the past subsidized the automation of independent agencies through various incentives offered to promote the sale of the carrier's insurance products.

In the area of insurance company systems, the Company competes with established vendors like Computer Science Corporation (CSC), Rebus and PMSC. Management believes that its focus and current technology will differentiate it from the competition.

In the area of consulting, the Company competes with hardware, development, and software providers and in-house information technology departments in carriers and targeted clients. These companies and carriers generally have much greater financial resources than the Company. The Company also experiences, to a much lesser extent, competition from small, independent or freelance developers and suppliers of software who sometimes work in concert with hardware providers to supply consulting and development.

Key competitive factors for the Company's software, services and consulting are product technology, features and functions, ease of use, price, project management, service, reputation, reliability, effects of insurance regulation, insurance knowledge, technology expertise, and quality of customer support and training. Management believes that, overall, the Company competes favorably with respect to these factors.

Proprietary Rights The Company regards its software as proprietary and attempts to protect it with copyrights, trade secret laws and restrictions on disclosure and transferring title. Despite these precautions, it may be possible for third parties to copy aspects of the Company's products or, without authorization, to obtain and use information which the Company regards as trade secrets. Existing copyright law affords only limited practical protection and the Company's software is unpatented.

Employees At December 31, 2005, the Company had 229 employees, including 16 in sales and marketing, 95 in product development, 71 in customer service and operations, 19 in call center and 28 in general management, administration and finance. None of the Company's employees are presently covered by a collective bargaining agreement. Management believes that its relations with its employees are good.

Item 1A. RISK FACTORS

You should carefully consider the risks, uncertainties and other factors described below, along with all of the other information included in this annual report on Form 10-K, because they could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, operating results and prospects and/or the market price of our common stock. This risk factors section is written in response to the Securities and Exchange Commission's plain English guidelines. In this section, the words we, us, our and ours refer to the Company and not any other person.

Risks Related To Our Business and Our Industry

You may have difficulty evaluating our business because of our limited history of Internet, call center and other business process outsourcing.

Although our predecessor began operations in 1976, we did not begin any Internet operations until September 1999 and did not begin generating revenues from these operations until the fourth quarter of 2000. We did not begin any call center or other business process outsourcing operations or begin generating revenues from these operations until the first quarter of 2003. Accordingly, there is a limited history of these operations on which you can evaluate our company and prospects. We cannot be certain that our Internet, call center and other business process outsourcing strategies will be successful, because these strategies are new. Our early-stage Internet, call center and other business process outsourcing operations will be particularly susceptible to the risks and uncertainties described in these risk factors and more likely to incur the expenses associated with addressing them. Our prospects must be considered in light of the risks, uncertainties, expenses and difficulties frequently encountered by companies in a transitional stage of development, particularly companies in new and rapidly evolving markets, such as electronic commerce, and using new and unproven business models.

Because the support revenue that we have traditionally relied upon has been steadily declining, it is important that new sources of revenue continue to be developed.

Our revenue from the support services we offer in connection with our legacy software products has been decreasing significantly over the course of the past few years. This decline can be attributed to the fact that many of our support clients are not renewing their support agreements with us, in many cases because they are no longer using our legacy software. Even if they are continuing to use our legacy software, our support clients may choose not to renew their support agreements if their legacy software products no longer require support or they use third party support. In addition, some of the clients who use our support services have reduced the level of support that we provide them, which in turn reduces our support revenue. This downward trend in our support revenue makes us particularly dependent upon our other sources of revenue.

Two customers currently provide a significant percentage of our total revenue.

Revenues from one customer, Brit Insurance Holdings PLC and its affiliates, which at March 16, 2006 owned approximately 34.0% of our common stock and approximately 78% of CF Epic Insurance and General Fund, which at that date owned approximately 8.1% of our common stock, represented approximately 16% ($3,762,000) of our total revenue in 2005 and 18% ($3,551,000) of our total revenue in 2004. If revenues from this customer were to discontinue, our operating results could be adversely affected.

Revenues from another customer, AON, represented approximately 7% ($1,594,000) and 9% ($1,856,000) of our total revenue in 2005 and 2004, respectively. If revenues from this customer were to discontinue, our operating results could be adversely affected.

Adverse insurance industry economics could adversely affect our revenues.

We are dependent on the insurance industry, which may be adversely affected by current economic and world political conditions.

Our operating results may fluctuate dramatically.

Our quarterly operating results may fluctuate significantly in the future due to a variety of factors that could affect our revenues or our expenses in any particular quarter. You should not rely on our results of operations during any particular quarter as an indication of our results for a full year or any other quarter. Factors that may affect our quarterly results may include the loss of a significant insurance agent, carrier or broker relationship or the merger of any of our participating insurance carriers with one another.

Our operating expenses are based in part on our expectations of our future revenues and are relatively fixed in the short term. We may be unable to adjust spending quickly enough to offset any unexpected revenue shortfall.

We cannot predict our future capital needs and we may not be able to secure additional financing when we need it.

We may need to raise additional funds in the future in order to fund more aggressive brand promotion or more rapid expansion, to develop new or enhanced services, to respond to competitive pressures or to make acquisitions. Any required additional financing may not be available on terms favorable to us, or at all. If adequate funds are not available on acceptable terms, we may be unable to meet our business or strategic objectives or compete effectively. If additional funds are raised by our issuing equity securities, stockholders may experience dilution of their ownership interests, and the newly issued securities may have rights superior to those of our common stock. If additional funds are raised by our issuing debt, we may be subject to limitations on our activities.

Any acquisitions that we undertake could be difficult to integrate, disrupt our business, dilute stockholder value and harm our operating results.

In the event we complete one or more acquisitions, we may be subject to a variety of risks, including risks associated with an ability to integrate acquired assets or operations into our existing operations, higher costs or unexpected difficulties or problems with acquired assets or entities, outdated or incompatible technologies, labor difficulties or an inability to realize anticipated synergies and efficiencies, whether within anticipated timeframes or at all, one or more of which risks, if realized, could have an adverse impact on our operations.

We may not be able to continue to develop new products to effectively adjust for rapid technological changes.

To be successful, we must adapt to rapidly changing technological and market needs, by continually enhancing our website and introducing new products and services to address our users' changing demands.

The marketplaces in which we operate are characterized by:

- rapidly changing technology;
- evolving industry standards;
- frequent new product and service introductions;
- shifting distribution channels; and
- changing customer demands.

Our future success will depend on our ability to adapt to this rapidly evolving marketplace. We could incur substantial costs if we need to modify our services or infrastructure in order to adapt to changes affecting our market, and we may be unable to adapt to these changes.

The markets for our products are highly competitive and are likely to become more competitive, and our competitors may be able to respond more quickly to new or emerging technology and changes in customer requirements.

We operate in highly competitive markets. In particular, the online insurance distribution market, like the broader electronic commerce market, is rapidly evolving and highly competitive. Our software business also experiences some competition from certain large hardware suppliers that sell systems and systems components to independent agencies and from small, independent or freelance developers and suppliers of software, who sometimes work in concert with hardware vendors to supply systems to independent agencies. Our Internet business may also face indirect competition from insurance carriers that have subsidiaries which perform in-house agency and brokerage functions.

Some of our current competitors have longer operating histories, larger customer bases, greater brand recognition and significantly greater financial, marketing and other resources than we do. In addition, we believe we will face increasing competition as the online financial services industry develops and evolves. Our current and future competitors may be able to:

- undertake more extensive marketing campaigns for their brands and services;
- devote more resources to website and systems development;
- adopt more aggressive pricing policies; and
- make more attractive offers to potential employees, online companies and third-party service providers.

If we are unable to protect our intellectual property, our reputation and competitiveness in the marketplace may be materially damaged.

We regard our intellectual property in general and our software in particular as critical to our success. It may be possible for third parties to copy aspects of our products or, without authorization, to obtain and use information that we regard as trade secrets. Existing copyright law affords only limited practical protection, and our software is unpatented.

If we infringe on the proprietary rights of others, we may be at a competitive disadvantage, and any related litigation could be time consuming and costly.

Third parties may claim that we have violated their intellectual property rights. Any of these claims, with or without merit, could subject us to costly litigation and divert the attention of key personnel. To the extent that we violate a patent or other intellectual property right of a third party, we may be prevented from operating our business as planned, and we may be required to pay damages, to obtain a license, if available, to use the right or to use a non-infringing method, if possible, to accomplish our objectives.

We depend on the continued services of our senior management and our ability to attract and retain other key personnel.

Our future success is substantially dependent on the continued services and continuing contributions of our senior management and other key personnel, particularly Robin Raina, our President and Chief Executive Officer. The loss of the services of any of our executive officers or other key employees could harm our business. We have no long-term employment agreements with any of our key personnel, nor do we maintain key man life insurance policies on any of our key employees.

Our future success depends on our continuing to attract, retain and motivate highly skilled employees. If we are not able to attract and retain new personnel, our business will be harmed. Competition for personnel in our industry is intense. We may be unable to retain our key employees or attract, assimilate or retain other highly qualified employees in the future.

Our international operations are subject to a number of risks that could affect our income and growth.

We market our software internationally and plan to expand our Internet services to locations outside of the United States. In 2004, we acquired certain assets from Heart Consulting Services Pty. Ltd. in Australia. In addition, commencing in 2002, we began development activities, call center services and other operations in India. Our international operations may not produce enough revenue to justify our investments in establishing them and are subject to other inherent risks, including:

- the impact of recessions in foreign economies on the level of consumers' insurance shopping and purchasing behavior;
- greater difficulty in collecting accounts receivable;
- difficulties and costs of staffing and managing foreign operations;
- reduced protection for intellectual property rights in some countries;
- seasonal reductions in business activity during the summer months in Europe and other parts of the world;
- burdensome regulatory requirements, other trade barriers and differing business practices;
- fluctuations in exchange rates;
- potentially adverse tax consequences; and
- political and economic instability.

Furthermore, our entry into additional international markets requires significant management attention and financial resources, which could lessen our ability to manage our existing business effectively.

Laws and regulations that govern the insurance industry could expose us or the agents, brokers and carriers who participate in our online marketplace to legal penalties.

We perform functions for licensed insurance agents, brokers and carriers and are, therefore, required to comply with a complex set of rules and regulations that often vary from state to state. These rules and regulations can be difficult to comply with and are ambiguous and open to interpretation. If we fail to properly interpret and/or comply with these rules and regulations, we, the insurance agents, brokers or carriers doing business with us, our officers, or agents with whom we contract could be subject to various sanctions, including censure, fines, cease-and-desist orders, loss of license or other penalties. This risk, as well as other laws and regulations affecting our business and changes in the regulatory climate or the enforcement or interpretation of existing law, could expose us to additional costs, including indemnification of participating insurance agents, brokers or carriers for their costs, and could require changes to our business or otherwise harm our business. Furthermore, because the application of online commerce to the consumer insurance market is relatively new, the impact of current or future regulations on our business is difficult to anticipate. To the extent that there are changes in the rules and regulations regarding the manner in which insurance is sold, our business could be adversely affected.

Governmental regulation of the telemarketing industry may increase our costs and restrict the operation and growth of our call center business.

The telemarketing industry and, therefore, our call center business are subject to an increasing amount of governmental regulation. In particular, telemarketers are now barred from contacting persons who have registered their phone numbers on the National Do Not Call Registry maintained by the Federal Trade Commission. We could be subject to a variety of enforcement or private actions for our failure or the failure of our clients to comply with these regulations. Furthermore, our costs may increase as a result of having to comply with these regulations, and these regulations may limit our call center activities or reduce the demand for our call center services.

Risks Related to Our Conduct of Business on The Internet

Any disruption of our Internet connections could affect the success of our Internet based products.

Any system failure, including network, software or hardware failure, that causes an interruption in our network or a decrease in responsiveness of our website could result in reduced user traffic and reduced revenue. Continued growth in Internet usage could cause a decrease in the quality of Internet connection service. Websites have experienced service interruptions as a result of outages and other delays occurring throughout the Internet network infrastructure. In addition, there have been several incidents in which individuals have intentionally caused service disruptions of major e-commerce websites. If these outages, delays or service disruptions frequently occur in the future, usage of our website could grow more slowly than anticipated or decline, and we may lose revenues and customers.

If the computer hardware operations that host our website were to experience a system failure, the performance of our website would be harmed. These systems are also vulnerable to damage from fire, floods, earthquakes, acts of terrorism, power loss, telecommunications failures, break-ins and similar events. Our property and business interruption insurance coverage may not be adequate to compensate us for all losses that may occur. In addition, our users depend on Internet service providers, online service providers and other website operators for access to our website. Each of these providers has experienced significant outages in the past, and could experience outages, delays and other difficulties due to system failures unrelated to our systems.

Concerns regarding security of transactions or the transmission of confidential information over the Internet or security problems we experience may prevent us from expanding our business or subject us to legal exposure.

If we do not offer sufficient security features in our online product and service offerings, our products and services may not gain market acceptance, and we could be exposed to legal liability. Despite the measures that we may take, our infrastructure will be potentially vulnerable to physical or electronic break-ins, computer viruses or similar problems. If a person circumvents our security measures, that person could misappropriate proprietary information or disrupt or damage our operations. Security breaches that result in access to confidential information could damage our reputation and subject us to a risk of loss or liability. We may be required to make significant expenditures to protect against or remedy security breaches. Additionally, if we are unable to adequately address our customers' concerns about security, we may have difficulty selling our goods and services.

Uncertainty in the marketplace regarding the use of Internet users' personal information, or proposed legislation limiting such use, could reduce demand for our services and result in increased expenses.

Concern among consumers and legislators regarding the use of personal information gathered from Internet users could create uncertainty in the marketplace. This could reduce demand for our services, increase the cost of doing business as a result of litigation costs or increased service delivery costs, or otherwise harm our business. Legislation has been proposed that would limit the users of personally identifiable information of Internet users gathered online or require online services to establish privacy policies. Many state insurance codes limit the collection and use of personal information by insurance agencies, brokers and carriers or insurance service organizations. Moreover, the Federal Trade Commission has settled a proceeding against one online service that agreed in the settlement to limit the manner in which personal information could be collected from users and provided to third parties.

Future government regulation of the Internet could place financial burdens on our businesses.

Because of the Internet's popularity and increasing use, new laws and regulations directed specifically at e-commerce may be adopted. These laws and regulations may cover issues such as the collection and use of data from website visitors, including the placing of small information files, or cookies, on a user's hard drive to gather information, and related privacy issues; pricing; taxation; telecommunications over the Internet; content; copyrights; distribution; domain name piracy; and quality of products and services. The enactment of any additional laws or regulations, including international laws and regulations, could impede the growth of our revenue from our Internet operations and place additional financial burdens on our business.

Risks Related To Our Common Stock

The price of our common stock may be extremely volatile.

In some future periods, our results of operations may be below the expectations of public market investors, which could negatively affect the market price of our common stock. Furthermore, the stock market in general has experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations in recent years. We believe that, in the future, the market price of our common stock could fluctuate widely due to variations in our performance and operating results or because of any of the following factors which are, in large part, beyond our control:

- announcements of new services, products, technological innovations, acquisitions or strategic relationships by us or our competitors;

- trends or conditions in the insurance, software, business process outsourcing and Internet markets;
- changes in market valuations of our competitors; and
- general political, economic and market conditions.

In addition, the market prices of securities of technology companies, including our own, have been volatile and have experienced fluctuations that have often been unrelated or disproportionate to operating performance. As a result, you may not be able to sell shares of our common stock at or above the price at which you purchase them. In the past, following periods of volatility in the market price of a company's securities, securities class action litigation has often been instituted against that company. If any securities litigation is initiated against us, we could incur substantial costs and our management's attention and resources could be diverted from our business.

The significant concentration of ownership of our common stock will limit your ability to influence corporate actions.

The concentration of ownership of our common stock may have the effect of delaying, preventing or deterring a change in control of our company, could deprive our stockholders of an opportunity to receive a premium for their common stock as part of a sale of our company, and may affect the market price of our common stock. At March 16, 2006, Brit Insurance Holdings PLC beneficially owned approximately 34.0% of our outstanding common stock and, together with our executive officers and directors, beneficially owned approximately 54.4% of our outstanding common stock. In addition, at March 16, 2006, CF Epic Insurance and General Fund, of which Brit owns approximately 78% of the equity interests, beneficially owned 8.1% of our outstanding common stock. As a result, those stockholders, if they act together, are able to control all matters requiring stockholder approval, including the election of all directors and approval of significant corporate transactions and amendments to our certificate of incorporation. These stockholders may use their ownership position to approve or take actions that are adverse to your interests or prevent the taking of actions that are consistent with your interests.

The Company's product and service strategy focuses on the following five areas: (1) providing software development services to insurance carriers, brokers and agents; (2) worldwide sale, customization, development, implementation and support of its insurance carrier system product BRICS; (3) worldwide sales and support of agency management systems including EbixASP and eGlobal; (4) expansion of connectivity between consumers, agents, carriers, and third party providers through its exchange family of products worldwide namely EbixLife and EbixExchange; and (5) business process outsourcing services, which include call center and back office, either off site or at the Company's facilities. Software delivered online through ASP models and connectivity products are recorded as services by the Company. The Company anticipates that future revenue will be provided principally by development services, system sales, the sale and licensing of BRICS, international operations, EbixLife, EbixExchange, call center services and support.

The product referred to as BRICS pertains to custom software development of systems for insurance carriers on a contractual basis to which the Company plans to ascribe increased focus in the future. These systems are unique for each customer and are client hosted. During 2005, the Company recognized revenue of $888,000 related to BRICS.

During 2004, the Company completed two synergistic acquisitions (EbixLife and Heart) which have added revenue and earnings to the Company's consolidated results in a proportionate amount (no dilution). On February 23, 2004, the Company acquired LifeLink Corporation (renamed to EbixLife Inc. (EbixLife) on May 2, 2005). The operations of EbixLife have been included in the Company's financial statements since that date. On July 1, 2004, Ebix Australia Pty Ltd (VIC), which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, acquired certain operating assets of Heart Consulting Services Pty Ltd (Heart), and the operations of Heart have been included in the Company's financial statements since that date. During 2005, the Company recognized revenue of $6,166,000 and $4,084,000 related to EbixLife and Heart, respectively. During 2004, the Company recognized revenue of $4,684,000 and $1,706,000 related to EbixLife and Heart, respectively. The Company intends to seek to increase revenue and income in the future through identification of additional synergistic acquisitions and through increasing emphasis on the sale and licensing of large scale development projects for insurance carriers, brokers and agents, where the margins are the greatest.

During 2005, the Company entered into various software and service agreements with Brit, which beneficially owned approximately 34% of the Company's outstanding common stock at March 16, 2006 (see Note 2 to the consolidated financial statements included herein). In addition, at March 16, 2006, CF Epic Insurance and General Fund, of which Brit owns approximately 78% of the equity interests, beneficially owned 8.1% of the Company's outstanding common stock. Approximately $3,762,000 was recognized as revenue during 2005 from Brit and its affiliates, representing approximately 16% of the Company's total revenue for that year. Total accounts receivable related to Brit and its affiliates at December 31, 2005 were $988,000. The Company expects to continue these types of arrangements with Brit and its affiliates. These agreements relate to the customization of EbixASP for the European markets in addition to hosting, development, and transaction fees.

In 2001, the Company began marketing the EbixASP product and it became available to the general public in 2002. EbixASP is a web-enabled system for insurance agencies to manage their businesses. This product generates revenues through initial registration and ongoing monthly subscription fees based on the number of personnel accessing the software. During 2005, the Company recognized revenue of $561,000 related to EbixASP.

The Company also continues to provide its agency management software product line, comprised of eGlobal, a modular agency management solution providing flexibility and the ability to handle unstructured data and complex risk, and Ebix.one, a structured system utilizing many features of the Company's previous products. The Company also continues to support, but no longer sells, six legacy products: INfinity, INSIGHT, PC-ELITE, Insurnet, SMART, and Vista. The legacy products provide basic functions such as policy administration, claims handling, accounting and financial reporting. The Company expects to maintain and support the legacy products as long as it believes there is adequate economic and strategic justification. The Company will continue to encourage customers utilizing legacy products to migrate to newer products.

Critical Accounting Policies The Company's critical accounting policies are those that require application of management's most difficult, subjective or complex judgments, often as a result of the need to make estimates about matters that are inherently uncertain and may change in future periods. We have identified the following as our critical accounting policies: revenue recognition and estimating the allowance for doubtful accounts receivable and income taxes.

Revenue recognition We derive our revenue primarily from two sources: (1) product revenue, which includes software licenses and (2) services and support revenue, which includes software license maintenance, software development, training, consulting and hosting revenue. As described below, significant management judgments, estimates must be made and used in connection with the revenue recognized in any accounting period. Material differences may result in the amount and timing of our revenue for any period if our management made different judgments or utilized different estimates.

In May 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) finalized the terms of Emerging Issues Task Force Issue No. 00-21, Revenue Arrangements with Multiple Deliverables, (EITF 00-21), which provides criteria governing how to identify whether goods or services that are to be delivered separately in a bundled sales arrangement should be accounted for separately. Deliverables are accounted for separately if they meet all of the following criteria: a) the delivered items have stand-alone value to the customer; b) the fair value of any undelivered items can be reliably determined; and c) if the arrangement includes a general right of return and delivery of the undelivered items is probable and substantially controlled by the seller. The Company adopted EITF 00-21 on July 1, 2003 for all new revenue arrangements executed subsequent to June 30, 2003 (or significant modification to arrangements existing prior to July 1, 2003). The Company's current policy is to analyze all new revenue arrangements.

To the extent arrangements contain multiple deliverables, the Company performs an analysis of the nature of the deliverables to determine to what extent the deliverables of the arrangement are governed by any higher level literature (as defined in EITF 00-21). EITF 00-21 recognizes arrangements that qualify for treatment under SOP 97-2 and certain arrangements that qualify for contract accounting (i.e. SOP 81-1) as falling under the definition of higher level literature. The Company applies the provisions of SOP 97-2, as amended by Statement of Position 98-9, Modifications of SOP 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, With Respect to Certain Transactions, to all arrangements which include software deliverables that are considered more than inconsequential to the other elements in the arrangements. For 2005, all of the Company's contracts with multiple deliverables fell under higher level accounting literature under the provisions of SOP 97-2 and/or SOP 81-1.

The Company recognizes revenue for license fees from its software products upon delivery, provided that the fee is fixed and determinable, acceptance has occurred, collectibility is probable and persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists. Management uses signed contractual agreements as persuasive evidence of an arrangement where fee information is documented. The Company performs credit checks on new customers to verify that collectibility will be probable. Revenue from third party software is derived from the licensing of third party software products in connection with sales of the Company's software licenses and is generally recognized upon delivery together with the Company's license revenue. Training, data conversion, installation, and consulting services are generally recognized as revenue when the services are performed and collectibility is probable. Revenue for maintenance and support service is recognized ratably over the term of the support agreement.

For arrangements containing multiple elements, revenue is recognized on delivered elements when vendor-specific objective evidence (VSOE) of fair value has been established on the undelivered elements, applying the residual method of SOP 98-9. Fair value is determined for each undelivered element based on the price charged for the sale of each element separately. In contracts that contain first year maintenance bundled with software fees, unbundling of maintenance is based on the price charged for renewal maintenance. Revenue for maintenance and support service is recognized ratably over the term of the support agreement.

Revenues related to hosting arrangements, including monthly fees as well as any initial registration fees and related custom programming, are recognized ratably over the term of the agreement in accordance with Staff Accounting Bulletin (SAB) 104, Revenue Recognition. Transaction fees are recognized as revenue as the transactions occur and revenue is earned. Revenue is only recognized when collectibility is probable.

Deferred revenue includes maintenance and support payments or billings that have been received or recorded prior to performance and, in certain cases, cash collections; amounts received under multi-element arrangements in which VSOE of undelivered elements does not exist; and initial registration fees and related service fees under hosting agreements. Revenue is recognized when VSOE of the undelivered elements is established, the elements are delivered, or the obligation to deliver the elements is extinguished.

Software arrangements involving significant customization, modification or production are accounted for in accordance with American Institute of Certified Public Accountants Statement of Position 81-1, Accounting for Performance on Construction-Type and Certain Production-Type Contracts, using the percentage-of-completion method. The Company recognizes revenue using actual hours worked as a percentage of total expected hours required by the arrangement, provided that the fee is fixed and determinable, evidence of an arrangement exists and the recovery of any related asset is considered probable.

For business process outsourcing agreements, which include call center services, services are primarily performed on a time and material basis. Revenue is recognized when the service is performed.

Allowance for doubtful accounts receivable The preparation of consolidated financial statements requires our management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Specifically, our management must make estimates of the collectability of our accounts receivable. Management specifically analyzes accounts receivable and analyzes historical bad debts, customer concentrations, customer credit-worthiness, current economic trends and changes in our customer payment terms when evaluating the adequacy of the allowance for doubtful accounts. Our accounts receivable balance was $3,502,000, net of an allowance for doubtful accounts of $11,000 as of December 31, 2005.

Income taxes The Company recognizes deferred tax assets and liabilities for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and operating loss and tax credit carryforwards. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. Valuation allowances are established when necessary to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized. In assessing the realizability of deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during periods in which those temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the scheduled reversal of deferred tax liabilities, projected future taxable income, and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Although future taxable income of the Company may be sufficient to utilize a substantial amount of the benefits of the Company's net operating loss carryforwards and to realize its deferred tax assets, a valuation allowance was recorded to offset the carrying value of the Company's deferred tax assets, as management concluded that the realization of its deferred tax assets does not meet the more likely than not criteria under Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes.

The Company's estimated effective tax rate for future periods is dependent on the mix of jurisdictions where taxable income is generated. The effective income tax rate for any year or period is not indicative of the future and could fluctuate substantially.

On February 23, 2004, the Company acquired LifeLink Corporation (which was renamed to EbixLife Inc. on May 2, 2005 and is referred to in this 10-K as EbixLife), and the operations of EbixLife have been included in the Company's financial statements since that date. On July 1, 2004, Ebix Australia Pty Ltd (VIC), which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, acquired certain operating assets of Heart Consulting Services Pty Ltd (Heart), and the operations of Heart have been included in the Company's financial statements since that date. The majority of the Company's growth since early 2004 has been attributed to these acquisitions.

Total Revenue The Company's revenue has been derived from the licensing and sale of proprietary software and third party software (Software) and from professional services and support services (Services). Services include consulting, implementation, training and project management provided to the Company's customers with installed systems and those in the process of installing systems. Also included in Services are fees for software license maintenance, EbixLife services, Heart services, initial registration and ongoing monthly subscription fees for the EbixASP product and transaction fees generated from the Ebix.mall website, as well as software development and call center revenue. Total revenue is comprised of Software revenue and Services revenue.

- Total revenue for 2005 increased $4,117,000, or 20.6%, from 2004, see discussion of Software revenue and Services Revenue below.

- Total revenue for 2004 increased $5,550,000, or 38.5%, from 2003, see discussion of Software revenue and Services Revenue below.
- Total Software revenue for 2005 increased $349,000, or 40.2%, from 2004. This increase was primarily due to the BRICS software sales of $380,000 partially offset by a decrease in international software license revenue.
- Total Software revenue for 2004 decreased $629,000, or 42.0%, from 2003. The Company expects future revenue to be comprised primarily of Services revenue.
- Total Services revenue for 2005 increased $3,768,000, or 19.7%, from 2004. This increase was due to increases in Heart revenue of approximately $2,378,000, EbixLife revenue of approximately $1,482,000, consulting revenue of $570,000 and BRICS revenue of $508,000 partially offset by a decrease in support revenue associated with legacy products of $644,000, a decrease in Ebix.mall revenue of $213,000, a decrease in non-Heart international consulting revenue of $127,000, a decrease in Ebix ASP revenue of $71,000, a decrease in INS-Site revenue of $67,000, a decrease in hosting revenue of $29,000 and a decrease in call center revenue of $19,000.

During 2005, 2004, and 2003, approximately $3,762,000, $3,551,000 and $3,245,000, respectively, was recognized as Services revenue from Brit and its affiliates related to call center and development projects. Revenue from Brit and its affiliates represented 16%, 18% and 23% of the Company's total revenues for 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively. Brit owned approximately 34% of the Company's common stock as of March 16, 2006. In addition, as of March 16, 2006, CF Epic Insurance and General Fund, of which Brit owns approximately 78% of the equity interests as of such date, beneficially owned 8.1% of the Company's outstanding common stock.

Total revenue for 2005 increased $4,117,000 or 20.6% from 2004, while revenue from Brit and its affiliates in 2005 increased $211,000 or 6% from 2004. Total revenue for 2004 increased $5,550,000 or 38.5% from 2003, while revenue from Brit in 2004 increased $306,000 or 9% from 2003. The revenues from Brit and its affiliates relate to projects for call center and software development services. Increases in revenues from Brit Holdings PLC and its affiliates during each of the periods presented were a result of Brit Insurance Holdings PLC and its affiliates adding additional development projects and expanding the scope of the current projects.

Total revenue for AON was $1,594,000, $1,856,000 and $1,652,000 during 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively representing 7%, 9% and 11% of total revenue. Neither Brit and its affiliates nor AON have long-term agreements with the Company that provide certainty that such revenues will be recurring. AON International continues to acquire licenses for more locations resulting in more reliance on the e-global system.

Support revenue associated with the Company's legacy products is decreasing due to a trend of declining renewals for these older product offerings.

	Support Revenue	Total Revenue
2005	$ 2,702,000	$ 24,100,000

Support revenue decreased $644,000, or 19%, and as a percentage of total revenue to 11% from 17%, in 2005 compared to 2004. Support revenue decreased $800,000, or 19%, and as a percentage of total revenue to 17% from 29%, in 2004 compared to 2003.

Based on historical data, the Company expects that legacy support revenue will continue to decrease by approximately 20% each year on a declining balance. The Company expects the legacy support revenue will continue as long as it is economically feasible for the Company to maintain and support the legacy products. As revenue from the legacy support decreases, costs will be reduced. When income from legacy support falls below break even, operations will be reviewed to determine if costs can be further reduced for the activity to be profitable and, if not, the Company will discontinue supporting the respective legacy product. The Company cannot predict when this will occur.

The Company expects that future Services revenue will be derived from this support, the sale of BRICS, as well as EbixASP registration and monthly fees, EbixLife services, Heart services, software development and call center and to a much lesser extent, all transaction revenues from Ebix.mall, conversion and training.

- Total Services revenue for 2004 increased $6,179,000, or 47.8%, from 2003. This increase was due to the addition of EbixLife revenue of approximately $4,684,000 and Heart revenue of approximately $1,706,000 and increases in consulting revenue of $1,543,000, Ebix.mall revenue of $187,000 and hosting revenue of $109,000, partially offset by a decrease in support revenue associated with legacy products of $800,000, a decrease in call center revenue of $493,000, a decrease in Ebix ASP revenue of $445,000 and a decrease in INS-Site revenue of $312,000.

Services and other costs Services and other costs include costs associated with support, call center consulting, implementation and training services.

- Total services and other costs for 2005 increased $574,000, or 10.7%, from 2004. This increase was due to an increase in EbixLife payroll expenses of $272,000, an increase in Heart payroll expenses of $509,000 (reflecting a full year of expenses for EbixLife and Heart) and an increase in facility costs of $111,000 partially offset by a decrease in expenses for required services to support the Company's products of $172,000, a decrease in international support costs of $49,000 and a decrease in non-EbixLife payroll of $97,000.
- Total services and other costs for 2004 increased $1,240,000, or 29.5%, from 2003. This increase was due to an increase in payroll expenses related to the acquisition of EbixLife of $505,000 and Heart of $258,000, an increase in facility costs of $205,000, an increase in expenses for required services to support the Company's products of $201,000, an increase in international support costs of $39,000 and an increase in non-EbixLife payroll of $32,000.

Product development expenses

- Total product development expenses for 2005 increased $242,000, or 8.0%, from 2004. This increase was due to an increase in payroll expenses related to annual salary increases of $82,000 and an increase in India payroll expenses of $70,000. In addition, facility costs increased $102,000 as a result of an increase in headcount. These increases were partially offset by a $12,000 decrease in EbixLife payroll expense related to a decrease in headcount.
- Total product development expenses for 2004 increased $1,464,000, or 94.3%, from 2003. This increase was due to an increase in payroll expenses related to EbixLife of $1,029,000, annual salary increases of $174,000 and an increase in India payroll expenses of $57,000. In addition, facility costs increased $210,000 as a result of an increase in headcount. These increases were partially offset by a $6,000 decrease in travel and entertainment expenses.

Sales and marketing expenses

- Total sales and marketing expenses for 2005 increased $471,000, or 29.4% from 2004. This increase was due to an increase in payroll expenses related to EbixLife of $106,000, an increase in travel and entertainment of $102,000, an increase in international sales and marketing expenses of $81,000, an increase in facility costs of $70,000, an increase in non-EbixLife payroll expenses of $63,000, an increase in office supply expenses of $26,000, an increase in telephone expenses $12,000 and an increase in trade show expenses of $42,000. These increases were partially offset by a decrease in consulting expenses of $24,000 and other marketing expenses of $7,000.
- Total sales and marketing expenses for 2004 approximated the total sales and marketing expenses from 2003. The sales and marketing focus has remained constant.

General and administrative expenses

- Total general and administrative expenses for 2005 increased $450,000, or 7.0%, from 2004. This increase was due to an increased in health insurance and other benefits of $290,000, an increase in operating expenses related to international locations of $220,000 and Heart of $246,000, an increase in investor relation expenses and director fees of $143,000, an increase in non-EbixLife payroll of $123,000, an increase in consulting expenses of $85,000, an increase in rent expenses of $27,000, an increase in telephone expenses of $26,000, an increase in office expenses of $20,000, an increase in insurance expenses of $20,000 and an increase in management fees of $18,000 partially offset by an increase in the amount of facility costs allocated to other departments of $283,000, a decrease in audit and legal expenses of $248,000, a decrease in bad debt provision of $99,000, a decrease of $70,000 related to EbixLife payroll, a decrease in travel and entertainment of $38,000 and a decrease in other expenses of $30,000.
- Total general and administrative expenses for 2004 increased $1,402,000, or 28.5%, from 2003. This increase was due to operating expenses related to Heart of $376,000 an increase in international expenses of $78,000, an increase in payroll expenses related to the acquisition of EbixLife of $296,000, an increase in non-EbixLife payroll of $109,000 an increase in bad debt expense $94,000, an increase in professional fees of $258,000 and an general increase in business operations due to the acquisition of EbixLife and Heart of approximately $191,000.

Amortization and depreciation expenses

- Total amortization and depreciation expenses for 2005 increased $136,000, or 11.5% from 2004. This increase was due to the addition of EbixLife intangible assets in February 2004 and Heart intangible assets in July 2004. Total EbixLife intangible amortization for 2005 was $575,000 compared to $491,000 for 2004. This increase reflects a partial year of amortization in 2004, as EbixLife was acquired February 23, 2004, compared to a full year of amortization in 2005. Total Heart intangible amortization for 2005 was $299,000 compared to $154,000 for 2004. This increase reflects a partial year of amortization in 2004, as EbixLife was acquired in July 2004, compared to a full year of amortization in 2005. In addition, depreciation expense increased $16,000 as a result of an increase in assets. These increases were partially offset by a decrease in the amortization of capitalized software of $109,000 for the year as capitalized software was fully amortized.
- Total amortization and depreciation expenses for 2004 increased $743,000, or 168% from 2003. This increase was due to a charge for amortization of intangibles related to the Lifeline acquisition of $491,000 and Heart acquisition of $154,000 and an increase in depreciation expense of $98,000 primarily related to an increase in assets acquired as a result of the EbixLife acquisition. Future expenses related to the amortization of Heart and EbixLife intangible assets are expected to be $882,000 for the years 2005 through 2007, $795,000 for 2008, $424,000 for 2009 and $367,000 for 2010. See Notes 13 and 14 to the consolidated financial statements, included elsewhere in this Form 10-K for detail relating to the allocation of value of intangible assets.

Income Taxes

- Income tax expense for 2005 increased $151,000, or 105.6% from 2004. This increase was due to an increase in income before taxes and a difference between the effective and statutory rates due to a different income mix among the various tax jurisdictions in which the Company does business. In addition, the Company implemented a new tax structure, which was completed during the third quarter of 2005.
- Income tax expense for 2004 increased $47,000, or 49.0% from 2003. This increase was due to an increase in income before taxes and a difference between the effective and statutory rates due to a different income mix among the various tax jurisdictions.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company had cash and cash equivalents of $6,733,000 at December 31, 2005. The Company had cash and cash equivalents of $5,843,000 and $3,000,000 of restricted cash at December 31, 2004. The Company's cash balance at December 31, 2003 was $7,915,000.

During 2005, the Company generated operating cash flow of $5,483,000, compared to operating cash flow of $2,810,000 in 2004, due primarily to $4,322,000 in net income, which included non-cash expense of $1,321,000 of amortization and depreciation, an increase in accounts payable of $181,000 and an increase in other assets of $122,000 partially offset by an increase in accounts receivable of $255,000 and a decrease in deferred revenue of $195,000. These balance sheet fluctuations are normal consequences of timing differences between accruals and their cash settlement.

During 2004, the Company generated operating cash flow of $2,810,000, compared to operating cash flow of $3,343,000 in 2003, due primarily to $2,240,000 in net income, which included non-cash expense of $1,185,000 of amortization and depreciation, and an increase in deferred revenue of $170,000, partially offset by an increase in accounts receivable of $841,000, an increase in other assets of $99,000 and a decrease in accounts payable and accrued expenses of $49,000. The accounts receivable increase is primarily due to EbixLife receivables, which were $955,000 at December 31, 2004. These balance sheet fluctuations are normal consequences of timing differences between accruals and their cash settlement.

During 2005, cash used in investing activities of $484,000 represented expenditures made primarily as a result of the Company's relocation of the Sydney, Australia office. Cash used in financing activities of $4,029,000 in 2005 resulted primarily from the Company's repurchase of a redeemable stock guarantee for $2,700,000, the payment of a long-term debt obligation of $960,000, payments on the line of credit of $3,500,000 partially offset by the release of restricted cash required for the line of credit of $3,000,000 and proceeds from stock options of $131,000.

During 2004, cash used in investing activities of $8,522,000 (an increase of approximately $7,967,000 over the prior year) represented expenditures made primarily as a result of the Company's acquisitions of EbixLife and the assets of Heart. Cash provided by financing activities of $3,640,000 in 2004 resulted primarily from the Company's sale of common stock during the first quarter of 2004 of $2,977,000 and borrowings of $3,500,000 on the Company's existing line of credit during the second quarter of 2004 partially offset by the restricted cash required for the line of credit of $3,000,000.

In 2005, 16% and 7% of the Company's total revenues were from two customers Brit and its affiliates and AON, respectively. Neither Brit nor AON have long-term agreements with the Company that provide certainty that such revenues and related cash flows will be recurring. AON International continues to acquire licenses for more locations resulting in more reliance on the e-global system.

Edgar Filing: EBIX INC - Form 10-K

In October 2002, the Company obtained from LaSalle Bank National Association a $1,000,000 revolving line of credit, secured by a perfected first security interest in substantially all of the Company's assets. The line of credit was increased to $5,000,000 during February 2004 and expires on October 31, 2006. In November 2005, the line of credit was paid and the total borrowings on this line were zero as of December 31, 2005.

On February 23, 2004, the Company acquired LifeLink Corporation (LifeLink), and the operations of LifeLink have been included in the Company's financial statements since that date. On May 2, 2005, the LifeLink name was changed to EbixLife. Under terms of the agreement, the Company acquired all of the outstanding capital stock of LifeLink from its shareholders in exchange for an aggregate purchase price of $10,354,000, payable as follows: $5,000,000 paid in cash at closing, $2,500,000 in a non-interest bearing note payable in cash in annual installments of $500,000 over five years (present value computed as $2,226,000), and $3,000,000 payable in 200,000 shares of the common stock of the Company issued at the time of closing. See note 13 to the consolidated financial statements included in this Form 10-K for a discussion of the redeemable common stock.

On July 1, 2004, Ebix Australia Pty Ltd, which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, acquired certain operating assets of Heart Consulting Services Pty Ltd (Heart), and the operations of Heart have been included in the Company's financial statements since that date. Under terms of the agreement, the Company acquired the operating assets of Heart in exchange for an aggregate purchase price of $7,116,000 payable as follows: $3,619,000 paid in cash at closing (subsequent to closing the former owner paid the Company $467,000 for deferred revenue and a vacation accrual settlement), $1,399,000 payable under stand-by letters of credit issued by the Company's lender on the Company's line of credit in three equal annual installments on each of the first, second and third anniversaries of the closing (present value computed as $1,293,000), and $2,098,000 payable in 157,728 shares of the common stock of the Company issued at the time of closing. See note 14 to the consolidated financial statements included in this Form 10-K for a discussion of the redeemable common stock.

In planning for its capital needs, the Company takes into account its sources of cash, which include operating cash flow, cash balances and funds from credit facilities, and anticipated future cash needs, which include working capital requirements for operations, capital expenditures, and expenditures for business acquisitions. Based on these considerations, the Company believes it will have sufficient cash for operations and to satisfy its contractual obligations for at least the next several years.

(1) $1,461,000 (included in the Less Than 1 Year column) is contingent upon exercise of the holder's put option to require the Company to purchase the holder's redeemable common stock in connection with the Heart acquisition. See Note 14 to the consolidated financial statements included in this Form 10-K.

(2) Includes interest of approximately $238,000 at an imputed interest rate of 4% as of the date of acquisition.

Impact of Recently Issued Accounting Standards In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment (FAS 123R), which revises and replaces SFAS No. 123,

Accounting for Stock-Based Payment and supercedes APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees. FAS 123R requires the measurement of all share-based payments to employees, including grants of employee stock options, using a fair-value based method and the recording of such expense in the Company's consolidated statements of operations. The pro forma disclosures previously permitted under SFAS No. 123 will no longer be an alternative to financial statement recognition. The provisions of FAS 123R were to have been effective for reporting periods beginning after June 15, 2005. At the end of March 2005, the SEC staff released Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 107 (SAB 107), providing guidance for implementing FASB No. 123R. Subsequently, the Commission delayed the implementation dates for FAS 123R to the start of the Company's fiscal year. As a result, the Company will be required to comply with the provisions of FAS 123R beginning January 1, 2006. The Company is evaluating the requirements of FAS 123R. However, because the Company currently accounts for employee stock option grants in a footnote disclosure as permitted by SFAS No. 123, the adoption of FAS 123R will have an impact on the Company's consolidated results of operations. In December 2005 the vesting of the 1996 in the money share options was accelerated in order to eliminate future expense related to unvested options. The Company estimates that the impact will be approximately $73,000 of compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2006, approximately $22,000 of compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2007 and approximately $13,000 of compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2008 based on the current information. See Note 1 for an illustration of the historical effects of expensing options.

In May 2005, the FASB issued SFAS No. 154, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections (SFAS 154), which replaces APB Opinion No. 20, Accounting Changes and SFAS No. 3, Reporting Accounting Changes in Interim Financial Statements. SFAS 154 retained accounting guidance related to changes in estimates, changes in a reporting entity and error corrections. However, changes in accounting principles must be accounted for retrospectively by modifying the financial statements of prior periods unless it is impracticable to do so. SFAS 154 is effective for accounting changes made in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2005. The Company does not believe adoption of SFAS 154 will have a material impact on its financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

Item 7A. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

The Company is subject to certain market risks, including foreign currency and interest rates. The majority of the Company's operations are based in the U.S. and, accordingly, the majority of our transactions are denominated in U.S. dollars. However, we have foreign-based operations where transactions are denominated in foreign currencies and are subject to market risk with respect to fluctuations in the relative value of currencies. Currently, the Company has operations in Australia, Canada, India, New Zealand and Singapore and conduct transactions in the local currencies of each location. There can be no assurance that fluctuations in the value of foreign currencies will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operating results, revenues or financial condition. In 2005, the net change in the cumulative foreign currency translation adjustment account, which is a component of stockholders' equity, was an unrealized loss of ($510,000). In 2004 and 2003, the net change in the cumulative foreign currency translation adjustment account, which is a component of stockholders' equity, was an unrealized gain of $446,000 and $100,000, respectively. The Company considered the historical trends in currency exchange rate and determined that it was reasonably possible that adverse changes in exchange rates of 20% for all currencies could be experienced in the near term. Such adverse changes would have resulted in an adverse impact on income before income taxes of approximately $376,000, $214,000 and $198,000 for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

The Company's exposure to interest rate risk relates to its debt obligations and to its interest income as it relates to the outstanding cash balances. As of December 31, 2005 the Company had no debt outstanding related to its line of credit and the remaining debt is fixed. While the Company had interest rate risk related to its line of credit at December 31, 2004, the exposure was mitigated by the interest income on the restricted balance of $3,000,000. As of December 31, 2003, the Company had no debt outstanding. The Company's market risk at December 31, 2005, is the potential loss of interest income arising from adverse changes in interest rates. Interest rate risk is estimated as the potential decrease in pre-tax income resulting from a hypothetical 10% decrease in effective interest rates on the Company's outstanding cash balance. The Company does not feel such a loss of interest income would be significant to its results of operations.

The Company does not currently use any derivative financial instruments.

The Company also capitalized approximately $241,000 of transaction costs in conjunction with the acquisition.

Note 1 Description of Business and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies:

Nature of Business Ebix, Inc. and subsidiaries (the Company) market software to insurance agents and brokers operating in the insurance industry and provide customer support and maintenance services through out the U.S and the world. In addition, the Company provides other implementation and consulting services such as training, data conversion, installation, software development and call center. The Company's product and service strategy focuses on the following five areas: (1) providing software development services to insurance carriers, brokers and agents (2) worldwide sale, customization, development, implementation and support of its insurance carrier system product BRICS, (3) worldwide sales and support of agency management systems including EbixASP and eGlobal, (4) expansion of connectivity between consumers, agents, carriers, and third party providers through its exchange family of products worldwide namely EbixLife and EbixExchange (5) business process outsourcing services, which include call center and back office, either off site or at the Company's facilities. Software delivered online through application service provider (ASP) models and connectivity products are recorded as services by the Company. The Company anticipates that future revenue will be provided principally by development services, system sales, the sale and licensing of BRICS, international operations, EbixLife, EbixExchange, call center services and support.

Consolidation The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Ebix, Inc. (Ebix USA), a Delaware corporation, and its wholly-owned subsidiaries: Ebix Information Systems International, Inc. (Ebix International), Ebix Software India Private Limited, Ebix Australia Pty. Ltd. (VIC) and EIH Holdings KB. The consolidated financial statements also include accounts of all subsidiaries of Ebix International.

Reclassification Certain prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform to the 2005 presentation.

Revenue Recognition We apply the provisions of Statement of Position (SOP) 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, as amended by Statement of Position 98-9, Modification of SOP 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, With Respect to Certain Transactions, to all transactions involving the sale of software.

In May 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) finalized the terms of Emerging Issues Task Force Issue No. 00-21, Revenue Arrangements with Multiple Deliverables (EITF 00-21), which provides criteria governing how to identify whether goods or services that are to be delivered separately in a bundled sales arrangement should be accounted for separately. Deliverables are accounted for separately if they meet all of the following: a) the delivered items have stand-alone value to the customer; b) the fair value of any undelivered items can be reliably determined; and c) if the arrangement includes a general right of return, delivery of the undelivered items is probable and substantially controlled by the seller. The Company adopted EITF 00-21 on July 1, 2003 for all new revenue arrangements executed subsequent to June 30, 2003 (or significant modification to arrangements existing prior to July 1, 2003). The Company's current policy is to analyze all new revenue arrangements.

To the extent arrangements contain multiple deliverables, the Company performs an analysis of the nature of the deliverables to determine to what extent the deliverables of the arrangement are governed by any higher level literature (as defined in EITF 00-21). EITF 00-21 recognizes arrangements that qualify for treatment under SOP 97-2 and certain arrangements that qualify for contract accounting (i.e. SOP 81-1) as falling under the definition of higher level literature. The Company applies the provisions of SOP 97-2, as amended by Statement of Position 98-9, Modifications of SOP 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, With Respect to Certain Transactions, to all arrangements which include software deliverables that are considered more than inconsequential to the other elements in the arrangements. For 2005, all of the Company's contracts with multiple deliverables have fallen under higher level accounting literature under the provisions of SOP 97-2 and/or SOP 81-1.

The Company recognizes revenue for license fees from its software products upon delivery, provided that the fee is fixed and determinable, acceptance has occurred, collectibility is probable and persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists. Revenue from third party software is derived from the licensing of third party software products in connection with sales of the Company's software licenses, and is generally recognized upon delivery together with the Company's license revenue. Training, data conversion, installation, and consulting services are generally recognized as revenue when the services are performed and collectibility is probable. Revenue for maintenance and support service is recognized ratably over the term of the support agreement.

For arrangements containing multiple elements, revenue is recognized on delivered elements when vendor-specific objective evidence (VSOE) of fair value has been established on the undelivered elements, applying the residual method of SOP 98-9. Fair value is determined for each undelivered element based on the price charged for the sale of each element separately. In contracts that contain first year maintenance bundled with software fees, unbundling of maintenance is based on the price charged for renewal maintenance. Revenue for maintenance and support service is recognized ratably over the term of the support agreement.

Revenues related to hosting arrangements, including monthly fees as well as any initial registration fees and related custom programming, are recognized ratably over the term of the agreement in accordance with Staff Accounting Bulletin (SAB) No. 104 Revenue Recognition. Transaction fees are recognized as revenue as the transactions occur and revenue is earned. Revenue is only recognized when collectibility is probable.

Deferred revenue includes maintenance and support payments that have been received or billings recorded prior to performance and, in certain cases, cash collections, amounts received under multi-element arrangements in which VSOE of undelivered elements does not exist; and initial registration fees and related service fees under hosting agreements. Revenue is recognized when VSOE of the undelivered elements is established, the elements are delivered, or the obligation to deliver the elements is extinguished.

Software arrangements involving significant customization, modification or production are accounted for in accordance with American Institute of Certified Public Accountants Statement of Position 81-1, Accounting for Performance on Construction-Type and Certain Production-Type Contracts, using the percentage-of-completion method. The Company recognizes revenue using actual hours worked as a percentage of total expected hours required by the arrangement, provided that the fee is fixed and determinable, there is evidence of an arrangement and recovery of any related recorded asset is considered probable.

For business process outsourcing agreements, which include call center services, services are primarily performed on a time and materials basis. Revenue is recognized when the service is performed.

Cash and Cash Equivalents The Company considers all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less at the time of purchase to be cash equivalents. Such investments are stated at cost, which approximates fair value.

Restricted Cash At December 31, 2004, $3,000 was classified as restricted cash and was restricted from use in accordance with the line of credit agreement.

Allowance for doubtful accounts receivable The preparation of consolidated financial statements requires our management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reported period. Specifically, the Company's management must make estimates of the collectability of our accounts receivable. Management specifically analyzes accounts receivable and analyzes historical bad debts, customer concentrations, customer credit-worthiness, current economic trends and changes in our customer payment terms when evaluating the adequacy of the allowance for doubtful accounts. The Company's accounts receivable balance was $3,502 and $3,256, net of an allowance for doubtful accounts of $11 and $13 as of December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004, respectively.

Accounting for the Impairment of Long-Lived Assets Long-lived assets and certain identifiable intangibles held and used by any entity are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. If an indication of a potential impairment exists, recoverability of the respective assets are determined by comparing the forecasted undiscounted net cash flows of the operation to which the assets relate, to the carrying amount, including associated intangible assets, of such operation. If the operation is determined to be unable to recover the carrying amount of its assets, then intangible assets are written down first, followed by the other long-lived assets of the operation, to fair value. Fair value is determined based on discounted cash flows or appraised values, depending upon the nature of the assets. In determining the estimated future cash flows, the Company considers current and projected future levels of income, as well as business trends, prospects and market and economic conditions.

The carrying amount of the Company's long-lived assets at December 31, 2005 and 2004 primarily represented the original amounts invested less the recorded depreciation and amortization. Based on the analysis performed by management, the Company does not believe the carrying value of its long-lived assets were impaired as of December 31, 2005. There were no impairment charges for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 or 2003.

Software Development Costs The Company's policy is to capitalize internally generated software development costs and purchased software in compliance with Statement Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 86, Accounting for the Costs of Computer Software To Be Sold, Leased or Otherwise Marketed. Under SFAS No. 86, capitalization of software development costs begins upon the establishment of technological feasibility of the product and continues through the point of general release of the product. The ongoing assessment of the recoverability of these costs considers external factors, including, but not limited to, anticipated future gross product revenues, estimated economic life and changes in software and hardware technology. During 2005, 2004 and 2003 the Company did not have any expenses eligible for capitalization under SFAS No. 86, given that costs incurred were primarily related to maintenance or were due to the provision of support on previously released software products.

Property and Equipment Property and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Depreciation and amortization are computed using the straight-line method over the assets' estimated useful lives. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of the expected life of the improvements or the remaining lease term. Repairs and maintenance are charged to expense as incurred and major improvements that extend the life of the asset are capitalized and amortized over the expected life of the improvement. Gains and losses resulting from sales or retirements are recorded as incurred, at which time related costs and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts. Fixed assets acquired in acquisitions are valued at fair value. The estimated useful lives applied by the Company are as follows:

Asset Category	Life
Computer equipment	5
Computer software	3-5
Furniture, fixtures and other leasehold improvements	7
Buildings	30

Goodwill In July 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets, which supercedes Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 17, Intangible Assets. SFAS No. 142 addresses how intangible assets acquired individually or with a group of other assets (but not those acquired in a business combination) should be accounted for in financial statements upon their acquisition. SFAS No. 142 also addresses how goodwill and other intangible assets should be accounted for after they have been initially recognized in the financial statements. SFAS No. 142 is required to be applied at the beginning of the entity's fiscal year and to be applied to goodwill and other intangible assets recognized in its financial statements at that date. As of January 1, 2002, the Company adopted SFAS No. 142, which eliminated the requirement to amortize goodwill. As of January 1, 2002, the date of adoption, the Company had unamortized goodwill in the amount of approximately $122, which has been subjected to the transition provisions, including the phase-in and annual impairment test, of SFAS No. 142 and will not be amortized going forward. Goodwill of $12,204 was a result of the acquisition of EbixLife in February 2004 ($5,989) and Heart in July 2004 ($6,092) as well as $122 of unamortized goodwill as of January 1, 2002. Valuations of both EbixLife and Heart were performed during 2005. The Company performed an annual impairment assessment, as required by SAS No. 142, of the Heart and EbixLife goodwill and intangible assets as of September 30, 2005 and it was determined that the assets were not impaired.

Intangible Assets Amounts allocated to intangible assets are amortized on a straight line basis over their estimated useful lives as follow:

Category	Life
Customer relationships	4-7
Developed technology	5
Trademarks	5

See notes 13 and 14 for further discussion of intangible assets.

Income Taxes The Company follows the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes pursuant to SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes. Deferred income taxes are recorded to reflect the tax consequences on future years of differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and operating loss and tax credit carryforwards and their financial reporting amounts at each year-end using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. In assessing the realizability of the deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. A valuation allowance is recorded for the portion of the deferred tax assets that are not expected to be realized based on the levels of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable income over the periods in which the temporary differences are deductible.

Earnings Per Share Basic earnings per share (EPS) is equal to net income divided by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding for the period. The weighted average number of common shares outstanding for 2005, 2004 and 2003 were 2,789,406, 2,783,500 and 2,293,580, respectively. Diluted EPS is calculated as if the Company had additional common stock outstanding from the beginning of the year or the date of grant for all common stock equivalents, net of assumed repurchased shares using the treasury stock method. Diluted EPS recognizes the dilutive effect of common stock equivalents and is equal to net income divided by the sum of the weighted average number of shares outstanding and common stock equivalents. During 2005 the Company's common stock equivalents consisted of restricted stock and stock options. During 2004 and 2003, the Company's common stock equivalents consisted of stock options. During 2005, the effect of this calculation resulted in an increase in the weighted average number of shares outstanding of 331,205. During 2004, the effect of this calculation resulted in an increase in the weighted average number of shares outstanding of 320,806. During 2003, the effect of this calculation resulted in an increase in the weighted average number of shares outstanding of 55,776. At December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, the fully diluted weighted average number of shares outstanding was 3,120,611, 3,104,306 and 2,349,356, respectively. At December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, there were 354,707, 368,366 and 604,106 shares, respectively, potentially issuable with respect to outstanding stock options and warrants, which could dilute Basic EPS in the future which were excluded from the diluted EPS calculation because their effect was antidilutive.

Foreign Currency Translation The functional currency of the Company's foreign subsidiaries is the local currency of the country in which the subsidiary operates. The assets and liabilities of foreign subsidiaries are translated into U.S. Dollars at the rates of exchange at the balance sheet dates. Income and expense accounts are translated at the average exchange rates in effect during the period. Gains and losses resulting from translation adjustments are included in the accompanying consolidated statements of stockholders' equity. Foreign exchange transaction gains and losses are recorded in foreign exchange gain (loss) as other comprehensive income (loss).

Use of Estimates The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the dates of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting periods. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Segment Reporting SFAS No. 131, Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information, established reporting standards for companies operating in more than one business segment. Since the Company manages its business as a single entity that provides software and related services to a single industry on a worldwide basis, the Company reports as a single segment. The applicable enterprise-wide disclosures required by SFAS No. 131 are included in Note 12.

Concentrations The Company's financial instruments that are exposed to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash and accounts receivable. The Company places its cash and temporary investments with high quality financial institutions. Temporary investments are valued at the lower of cost or market and at the balance sheet dates approximate fair market value. In 2005, 2004 and 2003, Brit Insurance Holdings PLC and its affiliates accounted for approximately 16%, 18% and 23%, respectively, of consolidated revenue. Accounts receivable relating to this customer at December 31, 2005 and 2004 were $988 and $718, respectively (see Note 2). In addition to Brit and its affiliates, one international customer, AON, accounted for approximately 11% of the Company's consolidated revenue for the year ended December 31, 2003. Revenue from AON accounted for less than 10% of the consolidated revenue for the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004.

The Company currently utilizes hardware, software and services that support its website from two third-party vendors under operating service agreements. Although there is a limited number of website service companies, management believes that other vendors could provide the Company with these website services. The terms of the current operating service agreements provide for fixed and variable payments, which are based on revenues realized by the Company.

Employee Stock Options At December 31, 2005, the Company has two stock-based employee compensation plans, which are more fully described in note 10. The Company accounts for stock options issued to employees in accordance with APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees. The Company has adopted the disclosure only provisions of SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation, and SFAS No. 148, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation Transition and Disclosure an Amendment to FASB Statement No. 123, for options and warrants issued to employees. Under APB Opinion No. 25, compensation expense is based on the difference, if any, on the measurement date, between the estimated fair value of the Company's stock and the exercise price of options to purchase that stock. Any resulting compensation expense is amortized on a straight-line basis over the vesting period of the options.

The Company applies APB Opinion No. 25 and related Interpretations in accounting for its employee stock-based compensation plans. Had compensation cost for these stock-based compensation plans been determined based on the fair value method prescribed by SFAS No. 123, using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model with the assumptions summarized in Note 10, the Company's net income and net income per share would have been the pro forma amounts indicated below:

Net income, as reported	$ 4,322	$ 2,240	$ 1,669
Add: Stock-based employee compensation expense included in reported net income, net of related tax effects	18	18	10
Deduct: Total stock-based employee compensation expense determined under the fair-value based method for employee awards, net of related tax effects	(830)	(822)	(916)
Pro forma net income	$ 3,510	$ 1,436	$ 763
Basic earnings per share, as reported	$ 1.55	$ 0.80	$ 0.73
Diluted earnings per share, as reported	$ 1.38	$ 0.72	$ 0.71
Basic earnings per share, pro forma	$ 1.26	$ 0.52	$ 0.33
Diluted earnings per share, pro forma	$ 1.12	$ 0.46	$ 0.32

In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment (FAS 123R), which revises and replaces SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Payment and supercedes APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees. FAS 123R requires the measurement of all share-based payments to employees, including grants of employee stock options, using a fair-value based method and the recording of such expense in the Company's consolidated statements of operations. The pro forma disclosures previously permitted under SFAS No. 123 will no longer be an alternative to financial statement recognition. The provisions of FAS 123R were to have been effective for reporting periods beginning after June 15, 2005. At the end of March 2005, the SEC staff released Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 107 (SAB 107), providing guidance for implementing FASB No. 123R. Subsequently, the Commission delayed the implementation dates for FAS 123R to the start of the Company's fiscal year. As a result, the Company will be required to comply with the provisions of FAS 123R beginning January 1, 2006. The Company is evaluating the requirements of FAS 123R. However, because the Company currently accounts for employee stock option grants in a footnote disclosure as permitted by SFAS No. 123, the adoption of FAS 123R will have an impact on the Company's consolidated results of operations. In December 2005 the vesting of the 1996 in the money share options was accelerated in order to eliminate future expense related to unvested options. The Company estimates that the impact will be approximately $73 of compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2006, $22 of compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2007 and $13 of compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2008 based on the current information.

Non-employee Stock Compensation The Company accounts for stock based compensation issued to non-employees in accordance with SFAS No. 123 and Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) Issue

No. 96-18, Accounting for Equity Instruments That Are Issued to Other Than Employees for Acquiring, or in conjunction with Selling Goods or Services. SFAS No. 123 establishes a fair value based method of accounting for stock-based compensation plans. Under the fair value based method, compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on the value of the award, which is calculated using an option pricing model, and is recognized over the service period, which is usually the vesting period.

Advertising Advertising costs are expensed as incurred. Advertising costs amounted to $320, $206 and $150 in 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively, and are included in sales and marketing expenses in the accompanying consolidated statements of income.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments The following disclosures of the estimated fair value of financial instruments were made in accordance with the requirements of SFAS No. 107, Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments. The estimated fair value amounts have been determined by the Company using available market information and appropriate valuation methodologies.

The Company believes the carrying amount of cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable, accrued expenses, accrued payroll and related benefits, line of credit and letters of credit is a reasonable estimate of their fair value due to the short maturity of these items.

Impact of Recently Issued Accounting Standards In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment (FAS 123R), which revises and replaces SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Payment and supercedes APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees. FAS 123R requires the measurement of all share-based payments to employees, including grants of employee stock options, using a fair-value based method and the recording of such expense in the Company's consolidated statements of operations. The pro forma disclosures previously permitted under SFAS No. 123 will no longer be an alternative to financial statement recognition. The provisions of FAS 123R were to have been effective for reporting periods beginning after June 15, 2005. At the end of March 2005, the SEC staff released Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 107 (SAB 107), providing guidance for implementing FASB No. 123R. Subsequently, the Commission delayed the implementation dates for FAS 123R to the start of the Company's fiscal year. As a result, the Company will be required to comply with the provisions of FAS 123R beginning January 1, 2006. The Company is evaluating the requirements of FAS 123R. However, because the Company currently accounts for employee stock option grants in a footnote disclosure as permitted by SFAS No. 123, the adoption of FAS 123R will have an impact on the Company's consolidated results of operations.

In May 2005, the FASB issued SFAS No. 154, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections (SFAS 154), which replaces APB Opinion No. 20, Accounting Changes and SFAS No. 3, Reporting Accounting Changes in Interim Financial Statements. SFAS 154 retained accounting guidance related to changes in estimates, changes in a reporting entity and error corrections. However, changes in accounting principles must be accounted for retrospectively by modifying the financial statements of prior periods unless it is impracticable to do so. SFAS 154 is effective for accounting changes made in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2005. The Company does not believe adoption of SFAS 154 will have a material impact on its financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

On June 1, 2005, the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors of the Company gave final approval to awards of 9,758 shares of restricted stock to Robin Raina, the Company's Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and President, and 4,382 shares of restricted stock to Richard J. Baum, the Company's Executive Vice President, Chief Financial Officer and Secretary, under the Company's 1996 Incentive Plan. The awards were made pursuant to a 2004 incentive compensation program (the 2004 Program) approved by the Company's Board of Directors on December 4, 2004 (as described in a Form 8-K filed by the Company on December 9, 2004) and were subject to a determination by the Compensation Committee and the Board, after the Company's release of its 2004 operating results, that such operating results were substantially consistent with the operating results of the Company for the first nine months of 2004, as they compared to those for the same period of the prior year (excluding executive incentive compensation). The Compensation Committee and the Board made such determination in April 2005, at which time the grants of the restricted stock (along with 2004 cash bonus compensation) were approved, subject to the Compensation Committee's approval of certain terms of the restricted stock awards and of the forms of restricted stock agreements to represent such awards.

On June 1, 2005, the Compensation Committee approved such terms and forms of restricted stock agreements, and the shares of restricted stock were issued to each of Messrs. Raina and Baum on such date. In accordance with the 2004 Program, the number of shares of restricted stock issued to each of Messrs. Raina and Baum represents 10% of the aggregate of the total salary and cash bonus compensation earned by him for 2004 (such aggregate compensation being $1,013 in the case of Mr. Raina and $455 in the case of Mr. Baum), divided by the market price of the Company's stock on April 11, 2005, the date the Board approved the restricted stock grants. The Company recognized compensation expense of approximately $65 related to these shares during the year ended December 31, 2005.

The line of credit was increased to $5,000 during February 2004. On February 23, 2005, the Company entered into an amendment to the credit agreement amending certain financial covenants. Major features of the line, as amended, include an interest rate equal to the prime rate, security at 60% of the amount of the line in a restricted interest-bearing account and timely financial reporting requirements.

In October 2005, the Company entered into an amendment to the credit agreement, which deleted the security at 60% of the amount of the line in a restricted interest-bearing account and extended the expiration date to October 31, 2006.

In November 2005, the line of credit was paid and the total borrowings on this line were zero as of December 31, 2005.

The income tax provision at the Federal statutory rate differs from the effective rate because of the following items:

Statutory rate	34.0	%	34.0	%	34.0	%
Change in valuation allowance	(23.3)	)%	(14.2)	)%	(18.2)	)%
Effect of foreign tax rate other than 34%	(4.9)	)%	(14.5)	)%	(0)	)%
Reversal of accrual for tax exposures		%	(3.2)	)%	(15.3)	)%
Other	(.5)	)%		%	1.7	%
Permanent differences	.7	%	3.9	%	3.2	%
Effective rate	6.0	%	6.0	%	5.4	%

Deferred income taxes reflect the impact of temporary differences between amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and such amounts as measured by tax laws. Temporary differences and carryforwards which give rise to a significant portion of deferred tax assets and liabilities as of December 31, 2005 and 2004 were as follows:

	December 31, 2005 Deferred		December 31, 2004 Deferred
	Assets	Liabilities	Assets	Liabilities
Amortization	$ 215	$	$ 99	$
Accruals		76	382
Bad debts	1		1
NOL carryforwards	8,549		9,270
Tax credit carryforwards	232		213
	8,997		9,965
Valuation allowance	(8,921)	)	(9,965)	)
Total deferred taxes	$ 76	$ 76	$	$

Due to the uncertainty of realizing any of the net deferred tax assets, the Company has provided a valuation allowance against the entire net amount. The impact of the valuation allowance and the effective tax rate is shown net of the effect of expiring operating losses and tax credit carryforwards.

At December 31, 2005, the Company had available domestic net operating loss carryforwards of approximately $25,144 which are available to offset future Federal income taxes, if any, through 2022, and investment business tax credit carryforwards of approximately $200 and AMT credit carryforwards of approximately $32, which are available to offset future Federal income taxes, if any, through 2009 for the investment business tax credit and indefinitely for the AMT credit.

Ebix, Inc. and SubsidiariesNotes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Continued)*(All dollar amounts in thousands, except per share data)*Note 8 Commitments and Contingencies:*Lease Commitments:

The Company leases office space under noncancelable operating leases with expiration dates ranging through 2010, with various renewal options. Capital leases range from three to five years and are primarily for computer equipment. There were no assets under capital lease at December 31, 2005 or December 31, 2004.

Commitments for minimum rentals under noncancellable leases as of December 31, 2005 were as follows:

2010	197
Total minimum lease commitments	$ 2,621

Rental expense for office facilities and certain equipment subject to operating leases for 2005, 2004 and 2003 was $738, $716 and $602, respectively.

Contingencies:

The Company is involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. In the opinion of management, the ultimate disposition of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's consolidated financial position, results of operations or liquidity.

Self Insurance:

The Company is currently self-insured for its health insurance and has a stop loss policy that limits the individual liability to $75 per person and the aggregate liability to 125% of the expected claims based upon the number of participants and historical claims. As of December 31, 2005, the maximum aggregate liability calculated was $692 for the annual contract period, which ends in September 2006.

Note 9 Cash Option Profit Sharing Plan and Trust:

Effective January 1, 1988, the Company adopted and implemented a 401(k) Cash Option Profit Sharing Plan, which allows participants to contribute a percentage of their compensation to the Profit Sharing Plan and Trust up to the Federal maximum. The Company's contributions to the Plan were approximately $66 for 2005, $61 for 2004 and $40 for 2003.

Note 10 Stock Options:

The Company's 1996 Stock Incentive Plan (the Plan) provides for the granting of stock options and stock appreciation rights to officers, directors and employees. reserved for grant under the Plan by 250,000 was adopted by the Board of Directors and approved by the Company's stockholders on May 30, 2001. A third amendment increasing the number of shares reserved for grant under the Plan by 250,000 was adopted by the Board of Directors and approved by the Company's stockholders on September 30, 2002. A fourth amendment increasing the number of shares reserved for grant under the Plan by 300,000 was adopted by the Board of Directors and approved by the Company's stockholders on January 14, 2005. Accordingly, the total number of shares reserved for grant under the Plan was 1,137,500 at December 31, 2005. Options granted under this Plan may be incentive stock options as defined under current tax laws or nonstatutory options. Options are granted at prices determined by the Board of Directors (not less than 100 percent of the market price of the stock at the time of grant for incentive stock options and 110 percent with respect to incentive stock options granted to optionees who own 10 percent or more of the Company's stock). Stock options under this plan generally become exercisable with respect to the underlying shares of Common Stock as follows: 25 percent become exercisable on the first anniversary of the date of grant and the remaining 75% of the options become exercisable ratably each quarter over the next three years. All options must be exercised within ten years of the date of grant (with respect to incentive stock optionees owning 10 percent or more of the Company's stock, the term may be no longer than five years). No stock appreciation rights have been issued under the Plan or are outstanding at December 31, 2005.

During 2001, the Company initiated the 2001 Stock Incentive Plan (the "2001 Plan"), which provides for the granting of stock options to key employees or consultants. The total number of shares reserved under the 2001 Plan was 62,500. No options were granted under the 2001 Plan and the 2001 Plan was terminated by the Board of Directors in 2004.

The Company's 1998 Director Option Plan (the "Director Plan") provides for granting of options for up to 37,500 shares to non-employee directors. Only nonstatutory options may be granted under the Directors Plan. Options are granted at prices not less than 100% of the market price of the stock at the time of grant. Stock options under this plan generally become exercisable over periods ranging from three months to three years. All options must be exercised within ten years of the date of grant. During 2005, 2004 and 2003, the Company granted options to purchase a total of 6,600, 6,000 and 1,800 shares, respectively, under the Director Plan.

In May 2003, our Board of Directors determined that each board member would receive options to purchase 1,500 shares of common stock each year. Each member of the Compensation Committee would receive additional options to purchase 150 shares of common stock per year. Each Audit Committee member would receive additional options to purchase 375 shares of common stock per year. In addition, each member of the Audit Committee, other than the Chairman, would receive cash compensation of $2 per year. The Audit Committee Chairman would receive cash compensation of $5 per year. These options were granted immediately following each annual meeting of stockholders at an exercise price per share of 100% of the fair market value of a share of common stock on the date of grant. These options become exercisable on the last day of each of the four calendar quarters beginning with the first calendar quarter ending on or after the date of the grant. Each option has a term of ten years beginning on the date of grant. During 2003, the Company granted options to purchase a total of 5,625 shares to board members under the program.

On January 14, 2005, the Company held the annual meeting of stockholders that had originally been scheduled for 2004. Immediately following that annual meeting of stockholders, each non-employee director received options to purchase 1,500 shares of Common Stock, including the options automatically awarded under the 1998 Director Option Plan, at an exercise price per share of 100% of the fair market value of a share of Common Stock on the date of the grant. These options become exercisable on the last day of each of the four calendar quarters beginning with the first calendar quarter ending on or after the date of the grant, and have a term of ten years beginning on the date of grant. On March 21, 2005, each member of the Compensation Committee received additional options to purchase 150 shares of common stock and each Audit Committee member received additional options to purchase 375 shares of common stock at an exercise price per share of 100% of the fair market value of a share of Common Stock on the date of the grant. These options become exercisable on the last day of each of the four calendar quarters, beginning with the first calendar quarter ending on or after the date of the grant, and have a term of ten years beginning on the date of grant. In addition, each member of the Audit Committee, other than its Chairman, received cash compensation of $3 in 2004 prorated for each member's actual time of service. Mr. Drislane received $3 and Mr. Rich received $1 following the January 14, 2005 annual meeting. The Audit Committee Chairman received cash compensation of $5 in 2004 prorated for the member's actual time of service. Mr. Bhalla received $3 as compensation for serving as Audit Committee Chairman immediately following the January 14, 2005 meeting. On March 24, 2004, Mr. Chisholm a former member of the Audit Committee, received $3 as compensation as service as a member of the Audit Committee (until his resignation on October 26, 2004).

In December 2004, our Board of Directors adopted a new compensation program for our non-employee directors, to commence in 2005 (with the 2005 Annual Meeting of Stockholders). Pursuant to this program, each non-employee director is to receive an annual cash retainer of $14. The Chairman of the Audit Committee is to receive an additional annual fee of $5 and each other member of the Audit Committee and each member of the Compensation Committee is to receive an additional annual fee of $3. Also, each non-employee director is to receive an initial grant on his election to the Board of an option to purchase 1,500 shares vesting over three years, and an annual grant thereafter of an option to purchase 1,500 shares, including the options automatically awarded under the Director Plan. These options will be granted immediately following each annual meeting of stockholders at an exercise price per share of 100% of the fair market value of a share of common stock on the date of grant. These options will become exercisable on the last day of each of the four calendar quarters beginning with the first calendar quarter ending on or after the date of grant and will have a term of ten years beginning on the date of grant.

On December 16, 2005, the Company held the annual meeting of stockholders. Immediately following that annual meeting of stockholders, each non-employee director received options to purchase 1,500 shares of Common Stock, including the options automatically awarded under the 1998 Director Option Plan, at an exercise price per share of 100% of the fair market value of a share of Common Stock on the date of the grant. These options become exercisable on the last day of each of the four calendar quarters beginning with the first calendar quarter ending on or after the date of the grant, and have a term of ten years beginning on the date of grant. In addition, each non-employee director is to receive an annual cash retainer of $14. Each member of the Audit Committee and Compensation Committee, other than its Chairman, received cash compensation of $3 in 2005. Mr. Drislane, Keller and Merin received $3 following the December 16, 2005 annual meeting. Mr. Rich received $5 following the December 16, 2005 meeting for serving on both the Audit and Compensation Committees. The Audit Committee Chairman, Mr. Bhalla received cash compensation of $5 following the December 16, 2005 meeting.

During 2000, the Company granted incentive stock options to purchase a total of 1,250 shares for which vesting is contingent upon increases in the Company's stock price and other performance based measures, such as achieving specified revenues for new products. During 1999, the Company granted incentive stock options to purchase a total of 58,250 shares, for which vesting is contingent upon increases in the Company's stock price and other performance based measures, such as achieving specified revenues for new products. For these options, vesting generally occurs when the Company's stock price equals $72.00, $96.00, $120.00 and $160.00 per share. During 2005, 2004 and 2003, no incentive options were granted. The exercise price of each option, which has a ten-year life, is equal to the market price of the Company's stock on the date of grant. Compensation cost is measured and recorded for these options using variable accounting as prescribed by APB Opinion No. 25 at the end of each quarterly reporting period and is subsequently adjusted for increases or decreases in the Company's stock price until the exercise date. There was no compensation expense related to these options in 2005, 2004 or 2003.

On August 11, 2003, the Company granted options to purchase the Company's common stock to an employee who is the brother of the Chief Executive Officer, in connection with his joining the Company as an employee. The option grantee was an employee when he received the grant. The options vest over four years from the date of grant, expire ten years from the date of grant, and were issued with an exercise price below the fair market value of the stock on the date of grant. This grant was not subject to any of the Company's stock option plans. The total intrinsic value associated with the granting of options was $96, which will be recognized ratably as compensation expense over the four-year vesting period in accordance with APB Opinion No. 25. The Company recognized compensation expense of approximately $24, $24 and $10 related to these options during the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

The Company has granted nonstatutory and incentive options outside the Company's stock option plans to purchase up to an aggregate of 57,000 shares of the Company's common stock, of which options to purchase 30,875 shares were outstanding at December 31, 2005. These options were granted at prices determined by the Board of Directors. The options have a four-year vesting period and must be exercised within ten years of the date of the grant. Included in these options are options to purchase 3,125 and 18,958 shares which the Company granted in 2002 and 2001, respectively, and options to purchase 9,917 shares granted prior to 2001, to persons who were not directors, officers or employees.

These non-employee options were valued pursuant to SFAS No. 123. The majority of these options are performance-based awards, with no service commitment and subject to vesting only if the Company's stock price reaches a certain price. At December 31, 2005, 4,812 of the shares subject to these non-employee options were vested. The Company recognized a credit to compensation expense of $38 related to these options during the years ended December 31, 2005. The Company has recognized compensation expense of approximately $50 and $40 related to these options during the years ended December 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively. Assumptions used in valuing the options are the same as those described below for employee options.

The per share weighted-average fair values of stock options granted during 2005, 2004 and 2003 were $4.36, $4.00 and $4.95, respectively, on the date of grant. Both the pro forma disclosures in note 1 and the

The Company classified $2,700 of the value of the common stock issued as temporary equity, redeemable common stock, in the consolidated balance sheet due to the existence of the holder's embedded put option. The Company and LifeLink's former shareholder agreed to accelerate the exercisability of the put option and on April 28, 2005, the Company repurchased the LifeLink Redeemable Shares at a price of $13.50 per share. On May 2, 2005, the LifeLink name was changed to EbixLife Inc. The following table summarizes the fair value of the LifeLink assets acquired and liabilities assumed at the date of acquisition.

This acquisition increased sales and revenue of the consolidated total while providing significant sales opportunities for the Company's other existing services. The Company performed an annual impairment assessment, as required by SFAS No. 142, "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets", of the EbixLife goodwill and intangible assets as of September 30, 2005 and it was determined that the assets were not impaired.

Item 9. CHANGES IN AND DISAGREEMENTS WITH ACCOUNTANTS ON ACCOUNTING AND FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE

KPMG LLP (KPMG) resigned as the independent registered public accounting firm of our Company on June 30, 2004, and on such date, the Audit Committee approved the engagement of BDO as our independent registered public accounting firm for the year ending December 31, 2004. The approval of the engagement of BDO followed the Audit Committee's review of the qualifications and proposed audit scope and fees of KPMG, our then current auditors, and BDO. BDO has continued as the Company's independent auditor throughout 2005.

KPMG's audit reports on our consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2003 did not contain an adverse opinion or a disclaimer of opinion, nor were they qualified or modified as to uncertainty, audit scope or accounting principles, except that KPMG's report on our consolidated financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2003 contained a separate paragraph stating that, "As discussed in Note 1 to the consolidated financial statements, we adopted the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets, on January 1, 2002."

During the year ended December 31, 2003 and the subsequent interim period through June 30, 2004, there were no disagreements with KPMG on any matter of accounting principles or practices, financial statement disclosure, or auditing scope or procedure which, if not resolved to KPMG's satisfaction, would have caused them to make reference to the subject matter in connection with their report on our financial statements for such periods.

During the year ended December 31, 2003 the subsequent interim period through June 30, 2004, there were no reportable events as defined in Item 304 (a)(1)(v) of Regulation S-K, except that, in connection with the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2003, KPMG advised us and the Audit Committee of reportable conditions with respect to our internal controls relating to, among other things, personnel and their roles and responsibilities. The Audit Committee was informed by KPMG of such control deficiencies and discussed them with KPMG, and authorized KPMG to respond fully to the inquiries of BDO concerning such matters.

During the year ended December 31, 2003 and through June 30, 2004, we did not consult BDO with respect to the application of accounting principles as to a specified transaction, either completed or proposed, or the type of audit opinion that might be rendered on our financial statements, or the reportable events described above.

Item 9A. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Disclosure Controls and Procedures. The Company maintains controls and procedures designed to ensure that it is able to collect the information we are required to disclose in the reports we file with the SEC, and to process, summarize and disclose this information within the time periods specified in the rules of the SEC. Management, with the participation of the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, has evaluated our disclosure controls and procedures (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 as amended (the Exchange Act)).

Based on such evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have concluded that, as of the end of such period, the Company's controls and procedures are effective to ensure that we are able to collect, process and disclose the information it is required to disclose in the report we file with the SEC within the required time periods.

Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting. Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company's internal control over financial reporting is designed to provide reasonable assurance to management and board of directors regarding the preparation and fair presentation of published financial statements. Because of its inherent limitations, internal controls over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Therefore, even those systems determined to be effective can provide only reasonable assurance with respect to financial statement preparation and presentation.

The Company carried out an evaluation of internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2005, under the supervision and with the participation of the Company's management, including its Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer. Based on this evaluation, the Company's Chief Executive Officer and the Company's Chief Financial Officer concluded that, as of December 31, 2005, the Company's internal control over financial reporting is effective. They reached this conclusion based in large part on their assessment of (i) the financial expertise of the members of the internal accounting staff, (ii) the regular communications among such persons (serving as a de facto disclosure committee), and between them and the rest of the relatively small organization, with respect to all material developments in the Company's business, and (iii) the overall process of preparation and review of the Company's financial and other disclosure.

The Company made enhancements to internal control over financial reporting during 2005. These enhancements constituted significant changes in internal control over financial reporting. There was not, however, any change in the Company's internal control over financial reporting during the quarter ended December 31, 2005 that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

The Chairman of the Audit Committee is to receive an additional annual fee of $5,000 and each other member of the Audit Committee and each member of the Compensation Committee is to receive an additional annual fee of $2,500. Also, each non-employee director is to receive an initial grant on his election to the Board of an option to purchase 1,500 shares, vesting over three years, and an annual grant thereafter of an option to purchase 1,500 shares, including the options automatically awarded under the 1998 Director Option Plan. These options will be granted immediately following each Annual Meeting of stockholders at an exercise price per share of 100% of the fair market value of a share of common stock on the date of grant. These options will become exercisable on the last day of each of the four calendar quarters beginning with the first calendar quarter ending on or after the date of the grant and will have a term of ten years beginning on the date of the grant.

Employment and Severance Agreements

We entered into an Executive Severance Agreement with Mr. Baum, dated October 4, 2000, which provides for a severance payment if a change of control of the Company occurs and, within 12 months thereafter, either Mr. Baum's employment is terminated without cause or he resigns due to a demotion or other new and onerous requirements being placed on him. Under the Agreement, the severance payment is equal to one year's salary (based on the highest monthly salary earned by Mr. Baum during the 12 months preceding his termination) plus a bonus equal to the fraction of the calendar year worked up to the termination, multiplied by the bonus paid to him in the prior calendar year. Under certain circumstances, the Agreement also provides medical insurance subsidies for a period of 12 months and indemnification. Under the Agreement, Mr. Baum agrees to hold our proprietary information confidential and, for a period of 12 months following his termination, cooperate with us with respect to corporate administrative affairs arising during his employment. If his termination results in payment of the Agreement's severance benefits, Mr. Baum will be subject to a non-competition agreement for a period of one year following his termination. When used in the foregoing summary, the terms "cause" and "change of control" have the meanings given to them in the Agreement.
