Comments by Ellen Kullman to Investors in Response to April 29 Glass Lewis Recommendation

DuPont takes strong exception to the report Glass Lewis issued yesterday and I want to outline the reasons why.

But first let me address head-on:

Why have we decided not to add Nelson Peltz to our board? For nearly two years, Nelson Peltz has sought Board representation for one reason only: to advance his firm's high-risk, value destructive agenda to break up and add excessive debt to DuPont. We firmly believe this would result in a less competitive company with weaker prospects for value creation. The fact remains that Nelson Peltz and Trian's nominees do not meet the standards required for participation on the Board of a global science and technology company of our scale, and would not be additive. Far from the constructivist he claims to be, Nelson Peltz would not accept any settlement that did not involve him personally joining the Board. He has only delivered ultimatums, while we have focused on delivering results. Your Board, our management team and I have been active agents of change. We have two new directors who have also delivered enormous value for their shareholders. You can count on us to continue to deliver superior value for you and your fellow shareholders.

Importantly, the Glass Lewis report recognizes that DuPont has delivered strong performance, has a diverse, capable board and has the right vision. Glass Lewis also rejects Trian's breakup plan, which has been Trian's agenda ever since they made their investment. Nevertheless, they concluded that Nelson Peltz would be additive to the Board, and ignore the fact that Trian's only foray into this sector, at Chemtura, resulted in bankruptcy under their board leadership. With specific reference to the report, we note in summary the points Glass Lewis puts forward in support of adding Mr. Peltz to the DuPont Board, but with the essential facts in each case:

1. Best-in-Class Financial Performance

- a. The actions the Board has taken to transform DuPont are producing results, which are clearly visible in the 6% segment sales growth(1) and 19% adjusted operating EPS(2) compounded annual growth rate of our ongoing, post-spin business giving us strong confidence in the momentum of the next generation DuPont
- b. We are outperforming financially on all fronts and do not need Nelson Peltz
- c. Nelson Peltz has had no success in the sector. The one relevant company Trian has experience with was driven into bankruptcy during their tenure; Trian has no science expertise to contribute to a company that is fundamentally grounded in scientific and technological innovation

2. Regular Strategic Review of Optimal Corporate Structure

- a. We regularly review our strategy and are executing a bold multi-year strategic transformation that the market has recognized. In fact, Glass Lewis itself finds our strategic vision compelling

Edgar Filing: DUPONT E I DE NEMOURS & CO - Form DEFA14A

- b. We also brought in Ed Breen and Jim Gallogly who have a history of successfully evaluating companies, and doing what is necessary to get the most value for their shareholders
- c. Their addition enhances this Board's strong orientation toward value-creating change, and moving forward we will continue to look to determine what further changes will enhance value.
- d. We believe Trian's plan to break up and add excessive debt to DuPont has generally been rejected by the market and has been deemed high risk by credit agencies
- e. Following a comprehensive review of Trian's break-up plan by two independent financial advisors, the Board unanimously rejected the proposal

3. Appropriate Cost Cutting Initiatives Undertaken and Achieved

- a. We have a track record of cutting costs, as demonstrated by $2 billion of cost cuts prior to undertaking our Fresh Start initiative. We expect annual run-rate savings of $1 billion by the end of 2015, and $1.3 billion by the end of 2017
- b. Productivity is a way of life for me and my staff; the Board is very focused on this as well and we are continually evaluating places to further cut costs
- c. Our current SG&A costs are competitive and we are focused on their continued improvement
- d. Through our productivity and the quality of our innovation, we have driven robust margin improvement and have increased segment-adjusted operating margins by 740 basis points(3)
- e. DuPont does not even have $4 billion in total corporate costs (total global functional costs, including corporate costs, were approximately $2.8 billion in 2014)

4. Disciplined Capital Allocation Strategy

- a. DuPont has already returned $14 billion(4) to shareholders and will continue to do so
- b. Triant's leverage plan has been cited by Moody's as "credit negative" that would cause greater volatility in earnings and cash flows

5. Information Advantage

- a. We provide our board with materials and in-depth analyses on all topics; the Board has plenty of time to digest the materials and has collectively delivered, these are all professionals who ensure they are well prepared
- b. The Lead Independent director sets the agenda and the information is compiled from that agenda to fully inform the board to act on that agenda. The Board has the ability to hire advisors and does so on a regular basis
- c. A group of analysts beholden to one Board member is an inappropriate governance structure
- d. We have proactively retained outside advisors and when we do, they report to the entire board, independent of management. That's the right way to deploy advisors

6. Ownership Mentality Achieved Through Transparency and Accountability

Edgar Filing: DUPONT E I DE NEMOURS & CO - Form DEFA14A

a. We all have an ownership mentality. I have the vast majority of my net worth tied up in this company, and am fully committed to DuPont and driving value. The Board similarly strives to maximize shareholder value as evidenced by the TSR each has delivered in his or her own right

b. We all put our shareholders front and center and strive to constantly drive and grow shareholder value.

In closing, my mandate when I was made CEO was to effect change, setting clear strategic priorities that have delivered for you during the course of my team's tenure. Through this transformation we have greatly improved our financial metrics and returned capital while still investing in a disciplined fashion in areas that advance our strategy and grow future value. The market has also recognized this. DuPont's stock price was on an upward trajectory before Trian even entered the stock due to the successful execution of DuPont's transformation and the performance of our ongoing business. Our ongoing, post-spin business has delivered 6% segment sales growth<sup>(5)</sup> and 19% adjusted operating EPS compounded annual growth rate.<sup>(6)</sup> Our Board and management team are agents of change, as evidenced by the recent additions of world renowned directors Ed Breen and Jim Gallogly. I thank you for your support.
