As previously disclosed, on May 8, 2014, Cardiovascular Systems, Inc. (the “Company”) received a letter from the U.S. Attorney’s Office for the Western District of North Carolina (the “DOJ”) stating that it is investigating the Company to determine whether it had violated the False Claims Act. On June 28, 2016, the Company announced that it entered into a Settlement Agreement (the “Settlement Agreement”) with the United States of America, acting through the DOJ and on behalf of the Office of Inspector General of the Department of Health and Human Services, and Travis Thams (the “Relator”), to resolve the investigation by the DOJ and the complaint underlying the Department of Justice’s investigation (the “Civil Action”). The Company’s prior disclosures regarding this matter are incorporated herein by reference, including in the Company’s Form 10-K for the year ended June 30, 2015, its Forms 8-K filed November 4, 2015, December 15, 2015, March 21, 2016, May 12, 2016 and June 28, 2016, and its Form 10-Q filed May 6, 2016.

On July 1, 2016, the DOJ and the Relator filed a joint notice of dismissal of the Civil Action, with the United States dismissing with prejudice the claims asserted in the Civil Action that are covered under the Settlement Agreement and any remaining claims without prejudice, and the Relator dismissing the Civil Action in its entirety with prejudice, except for the Relator’s claim for statutory attorneys’ fees and costs, the amount of which has not yet been determined. On July 11, 2016, the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina, Charlotte Division (the “Court”) issued an order consistent with the joint notice of dismissal. The Court will retain jurisdiction over the parties to the extent necessary to enforce the terms and conditions of the Settlement Agreement and to adjudicate the Relator’s outstanding claims for attorneys’ fees and costs.
