Item 7.01. Regulation FD

At the JPMorgan Technology Conference in San Francisco today, Seagate executives will communicate the following update regarding its business outlook for the quarter ending July 1, 2005 based on the current quarter to date:

Demand for Seagate disc drive products has continued strong since the beginning of the quarter, especially for desktop and CE drives.

New product ramp and transition continues to progress well and Seagate is on track to realize more than 50% of its total revenue from products announced last June.

Pricing, across all markets, is within the range of Seagate's expectations.

Seagate expects revenue and diluted earnings per share to be approximately $2.1 billion and $0.50, respectively.

The information contained in this Current Report on Form 8-K is furnished but not filed for purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

This Current Report on Form 8-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements related to future financial performance, price and product competition, customer demand for our products, pricing of our products and general market conditions. These forward-looking statements are based on information available to Seagate as of the date of this Current Report on Form 8-K and current expectations, forecasts and assumptions and involve a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those anticipated by these forward-looking statements. Such risks and uncertainties include a variety of factors, some of which are beyond Seagate's control. In particular, such risks and uncertainties include the variable demand and the aggressive pricing environment for disc drives; dependence on Seagate's ability to successfully manufacture in increasing volumes on a cost-effective basis and with acceptable quality its current disc drive products; and the adverse impact of competitive product announcements and possible excess industry supply with respect to particular disc drive products. Information concerning additional factors that could cause results to differ materially from those projected in the forward-looking statements is contained in Seagate's Annual Report on Form 10-K/A as filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on September 3, 2004 and in Seagate's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q as filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on April 29, 2005. These forward-looking statements should not be relied upon as representing Seagate's views as of any subsequent date and Seagate undertakes no obligation to update forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date they were made.
