Market Environment Overview

The U.S. equity market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, returned 8.54% for the 12-month period ended March 31, 2012 (the period). After bottoming in March of 2009, the S&P 500 recorded its third straight year of gains. Measured from March 31, 2009 through March 31, 2012, the three year cumulative total return on the S&P 500 Index was 87.99%. This represents a substantial recovery in the equity market as earnings and dividend levels reached and surpassed previous records.

While the overall return for the period was positive, it was marked by several bouts of volatility. Investors had to deal with events domestically and abroad that impacted the U.S. market: as the S&P 500 Index fell for the first six months of the period and turned around significantly in the second half of the period.

Much of the volatility experienced in the market revolved around concerns over a debt crisis in the developed world. At home in the United States, politicians squabbled over raising the U.S. debt ceiling in the summer of 2011. After the market close on Friday, August 5, 2011, Standard & Poor's downgraded the U.S. government from its AAA rating—the highest credit quality rating one can achieve—due to escalating debt levels, large deficits, and the lack of a coherent plan from U.S. politicians attacking these fiscal issues. The following Monday, the S&P 500 closed down 6.65% and many market participants shifted assets away from equities and risky assets to perceived safe havens. Paradoxically, there was a flight to the very bonds that were downgraded as many believed the problems in other parts of the world, such as Europe, were worse than those in the United States.

WisdomTree Funds' Performance Overview

By the end of September 2011, investors had experienced market uncertainty due to the European debt crisis intensifying. This resulted in the worst quarterly performance for the S&P 500 since 2008 (down 13.87%). To support the economy and credit markets, on September 21, 2011, the Federal Reserve announced Operation Twist, which attempted to push down long-term interest rates by shifting the balance of the Treasury's securities holdings towards longer-term securities and selling shorter-term investments. These Federal Reserve actions, known as a form of quantitative easing, or QE, helped support an environment in which many investors were willing to take on more risk. From September 22, 2011, the market rose more than 26% until the end of March 2012, erasing the negative effects of the previous volatility and leaving the U.S. market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, up 8.54% for the period.

The following table reflects the WisdomTree Funds' performance versus their capitalization-weighted benchmark indexes:

Ticker	WisdomTree Fund	1-Year NAV Return	Cap-Weighted Benchmark	1-Year Return	Difference
DTD	WisdomTree Total Dividend Fund	11.81%	Russell 3000® Index	7.18%	4.63%
DHS	WisdomTree Equity Income Fund	14.66%	Russell 1000® Value Index	4.79%	9.87%
DLN	WisdomTree LargeCap Dividend Fund	12.82%	S&P 500® Index	8.54%	4.28%
DTN	WisdomTree Dividend ex-Financials Fund	12.99%	Dow Jones U.S. Select Dividend Index <sup>SM</sup>	11.75%	1.24%
DON	WisdomTree MidCap Dividend Fund	6.99%	S&P MidCap 400® Index	1.98%	5.01%
DES	WisdomTree SmallCap Dividend Fund	4.50%	Russell 2000® Index	-0.18%	4.68%

With all the volatility in the markets during the period, it may not be a surprise that equities considered to be more defensive in nature, such as large cap stocks, or dividend paying stocks fared better than mid cap and small cap stocks and more growth oriented strategies. While the S&P 500 Index was up 8.54%, the Russell 2000 Index, an index of small cap U.S. equities, experienced a decline of -0.18%.

Index. The dividend stream is defined as the sum of the dollar value of dividends indicated to be paid by each company. There are two primary factors that drive performance differentials of the WisdomTree Funds and Indexes versus market cap-weighted benchmarks. The first is aggregate exposure to one or more sectors. The second is stock selection within each sector. Both of these are determined as part of WisdomTree's rules-based index methodology. These exposures are not subjectively determined. Rather, they are objectively determined at the Index rebalancing dates based on the dividend stream.

Five of the ten sectors represented within the S&P 500 Index experienced positive performance over the period. The best performing sector over the period was the Information Technology sector. This was spurred by a lively initial public offering market and by earnings strength from some of its biggest components, such as Apple, Google, and IBM. Also, the more defensive sectors outpaced the market, such as Health Care, Consumer Staples, and Utilities. The Energy sector was the worst performing sector for the period, followed by Materials, as the commodities markets experienced a selloff over the period. Financials also lagged the broader market as questions arose about exposures to the European sovereign debt crisis.

The WisdomTree LargeCap Dividend Fund delivered a return of 12.82%, which was more than 4 percentage points ahead of the S&P 500 Index. This Fund, representative of the broader dividend approach, benefited from its focus on dividend paying stocks in the Utilities, Health Care, and Consumer Staples sectors. It also benefited from being underweight financial stocks, many of which had cut their dividends during the crisis and were therefore underweight in the Fund.

The performance of each WisdomTree Fund compared to its cap-weighted benchmarks was favorable for each Fund in the domestic dividend family over the period. This can be partially explained because the Consumer Staples sector experienced strong gains throughout the period. During the period, this sector was more heavily represented in WisdomTree Funds than in their corresponding cap-weighted benchmarks due to this sector's relatively higher contributions to the dividend stream.

While the WisdomTree Domestic Dividend Funds outperformed their cap-weighted benchmarks for the period, there was a notable sector exposure that created relative drag on performance. The Information Technology sector experienced strong gains during the period. This sector has historically had relatively low dividend payers, which meant that cap-weighted benchmarks were relatively overweight this sector compared to the WisdomTree Dividend Funds during the period.

The WisdomTree Equity Income Fund outperformed its cap-weighted benchmark significantly over the period primarily because it was relatively overweight the Consumer Staples sector, which experienced positive gains over the period as a defensive sector. Additionally, the Fund was significantly underweight Financials, which lagged the broader market for the period.

Fund returns are shown at NAV. Please see Performance Summaries on the subsequent pages for more complete performance information. Please see page 9 for the list of index descriptions.

Fund performance assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gain distributions. An index is a statistical measure of a specified financial market or sector. An index does not actually hold a portfolio of securities, incur expenses or pay any transaction costs. Therefore index returns do not reflect deductions for fees or expenses and are not available for direct investment. In comparison, the Funds' performance is negatively impacted by these deductions. Fund returns do not reflect brokerage commissions or taxes on transactions in Fund shares or that a shareholder would pay on Fund distributions. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The WisdomTree Total Dividend Fund (the Fund) seeks to track the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of the WisdomTree Dividend Index.

The Fund returned 11.81% at net asset value (NAV) for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2012 (for more complete performance information please see the chart below). The Fund's performance benefited most from its position in the Consumer Staples sector. The Fund's position in the Energy sector created the greatest drag on performance.

The following performance chart is provided for comparative purposes and represents the period noted. The Fund's per share NAV is the value of one share of the Fund and is calculated by dividing the value of total assets less total liabilities by the number of shares outstanding. The NAV return is based on the NAV of the Fund and the market price return is based on the market price per share of the Fund. The price used to calculate market price returns is the mid-point of the highest bid and lowest offer for Fund shares as of the close of trading on the exchange where Fund shares are listed. NAV and market price returns assume that dividends and capital gain distributions have been reinvested in the Fund at NAV and market price, respectively. As with other ETFs, NAV returns and market price returns may differ because of factors such as the supply and demand for Fund shares and investors' assessments of the underlying value of a Fund's portfolio securities.

The WisdomTree MidCap Dividend Fund (the Fund) seeks to track the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of the WisdomTree MidCap Dividend Index.

The Fund returned 6.99% at net asset value (NAV) for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2012 (for more complete performance information please see the chart below). The Fund's performance benefited most from its position in the Utilities sector. The Fund's position in the Energy sector created the greatest drag on performance.

The following performance chart is provided for comparative purposes and represents the period noted. The Fund's per share NAV is the value of one share of the Fund and is calculated by dividing the value of total assets less total liabilities by the number of shares outstanding. The NAV return is based on the NAV of the Fund and the market price return is based on the market price per share of the Fund. The price used to calculate market price returns is the mid-point of the highest bid and lowest offer for Fund shares as of the close of trading on the exchange where Fund shares are listed. NAV and market price returns assume that dividends and capital gain distributions have been reinvested in the Fund at NAV and market price, respectively. As with other ETFs, NAV returns and market price returns may differ because of factors such as the supply and demand for Fund shares and investors' assessments of the underlying value of a Fund's portfolio securities.

An index is a statistical measure of a specified financial market or sector. An index does not actually hold a portfolio of securities, incur expenses or pay any transaction costs. Therefore, index returns do not reflect deductions for fees or expenses and the index is not available for direct investment. In comparison, the Fund's performance is negatively impacted by these deductions. Fund returns do not reflect brokerage commissions or taxes on transactions in Fund shares or that a shareholder would pay on Fund distributions. As of the Fund's current prospectus dated July 29, 2011, the Fund's annual expense ratio was 0.38%.

Shareholder Expense Examples (unaudited)

As a shareholder of a WisdomTree Fund, you incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including brokerage commissions on purchases and sales of your Fund shares and (2) ongoing costs, including management fees and other Fund expenses. The following example is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars and cents) of investing in a Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other funds.

The example is based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period from October 1, 2011 to March 31, 2012.

Actual expenses

The first line under each Fund in the table on the next page provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line for your Fund under the heading entitled Expenses Paid During the Period 10/01/11 to 3/31/12 to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period.

Hypothetical example for comparison purposes

The second line under each Fund in the table on the next page provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on each Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in your Fund and other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of the other funds.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as brokerage commissions paid on purchases and sales of Fund shares. Therefore, the second line under each Fund in the table is useful in comparing ongoing Fund costs only and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher.
