Item 2.02 Results of Operations and Financial Condition.

On May 3, 2018, Fairmount Santrol Holdings Inc. (the Company) issued an earnings release (the Earnings Release) announcing its results for the quarter ended March 31, 2018. The Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2018 (the Form 10-Q), which was filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on May 10, 2018, contains immaterial adjustments to the condensed consolidated financial statements previously disclosed in the Earnings Release in order to reflect revisions, primarily related to the Company's accounting treatment for capitalized non-cash stripping costs. Prior to this revision, the Company's stripping costs were capitalized when incurred for overburden stripping performed two to three years in advance of when the reserves would be mined, and this capitalized stripping would be amortized in subsequent periods. After the revision, cost of sales increased to include stripping as a component of cost of goods sold in the period incurred and depreciation, amortization and depletion expense is reduced in the Company's condensed consolidated statements of income (loss) in the Form 10-Q to be consistent with accounting guidance included in ASC 930-330-25-1 and EITF 04-06. The adjustments reducing net income (loss) for the three-month periods ended March 31, 2018 and 2017, as compared to the unaudited results contained in the Earnings Release, as a result of these accounting revisions are $149,000 and $243,000, respectively.

The immaterial adjustments to the Company's consolidated financial statements are discussed more fully in Notes 1 and 2 in the Form 10-Q. The following table shows the impact of the adjustments to EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA in each of the reported periods. The Company encourages readers to review the Form 10-Q for additional information.

EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA

EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are supplemental non-GAAP financial measures that are used by management and certain external users of our financial statements in evaluating our operating performance.

We define EBITDA as net income before interest expense, income tax expense, depreciation, depletion and amortization. Adjusted EBITDA is defined as EBITDA before non-cash stock-based compensation, impairment of assets, and certain other income or expenses.

Management believes EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are useful because they allow us to more effectively evaluate our operations from period to period without regard to our financing methods or capital structure. EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA have limitations as analytical tools and should not be considered as alternatives to, or more meaningful than net income as determined in accordance with GAAP as indicators of our operating performance. Certain items excluded from EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are significant components in understanding and assessing a company's financial performance, such as a company's cost of capital and tax structure, as well as the historic costs of depreciable assets, none of which are components of EBITDA or Adjusted EBITDA. Although we attempt to determine EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA in a manner that is consistent with other companies in our industry, our computations of EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures of other companies. We believe that EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are widely followed measures of operating performance.

Adjusted EBITDA is presented as a performance measure because certain charges or expenses may occur in a particular period and are not indicative of true operating performance. For this reason, management believes Adjusted EBITDA is useful to investors as well.
