Relevant Events

In January the Mexican interconnection rate from fixed-to-mobile and mobile-to-mobile was reduced by 10%, to 1.34 Mexican pesos (12 dollar cents). Interconnection rates have fallen by 52% in real terms since Mexico introduced the Calling-Party-Pays system. Altogether, Telcel's average price per minute of voice is 37.7% below the average of the OECD and 41.8% below the average level of 20 European countries that are members of the OECD. Whereas the average price in the U.S. is lower than Telcel's, prices are not directly comparable given the absence in that country of a Calling-Party-Pays regime and of subsidies on the sale of handsets. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Telcel's prices in the prepaid segment, which constitutes 93% of the Mexican market, are 38% lower than the average in the U.S.

On March 13th, América Móvil announced that its Board of Directors had decided to submit for the approval of the General Ordinary Shareholders Meeting to be held on April 27th, a proposal for the payment of a cash dividend in the amount of $0.20 (twenty peso cents) per share in one exhibition. If approved, América Móvil would pay in July an aggregate amount of 7 billion pesos approximately.

At the end of March, we completed the acquisition of Telecomunicaciones de Puerto Rico, having purchased 100% of the equity of the company. The results of this operation will be consolidated in América Móvil beginning in April, although our balance sheet already reflects the impact of the operation.

América Móvil Consolidated Results

As our revenue base gains scale driven by service revenues that have been expanding at a rapid pace, the relative effort entailed by growth has become less taxing, which is manifesting itself in better EBITDA margins in practically all our operations. Lower subsidies and handset costs have also played a role in the improvement of margins.

Revenues totaled 67.7 billion pesos in the quarter, expanding by 28.1% year-on-year on the back of 31.0% service-revenue growth, with equipment revenues rising much less rapidly, at 11.5%. Relative to the previous quarter, and due mostly to seasonal factors, equipment revenues actually fell by 30.4%. However, with service revenues climbing 10.2% on the quarter, total revenues managed to post a sequential gain of 2.6%.

In our South American operations, service revenues are increasing at an average pace of 35.9% year-on-year, while in our North American (Mexico and U.S.) operations they are growing at a pace of approximately 16%.

Edgar Filing: AMERICA MOVIL SAB DE CV/ - Form 6-K

The share of our international operations in our revenue base has reached 57%.

At 28.9 billion pesos, EBITDA was up 17.4% in the quarter and 51.4% relative to the same period a year before. The EBITDA margin, 42.7%, was 6.5 percentage points higher than in the first quarter of 2006 and 5 percentage points over the one seen the previous quarter as costs continue to fall in relation to our expanding revenue base. This has been particularly evident in our South American operations, whose share of our consolidated EBITDA has increased to 31.8% from 22.9% a year ago. Three of them more than doubled their EBITDA in the last year, with two seeing margin improvements of approximately 20 percentage points and the other one, 15 percentage points.

Operating profits rose to 21.4 billion pesos, or 31.7% of revenues, having increased by 25.3% quarter-over-quarter and 66.1% annually. They were instrumental in bringing about a net profit of 15.9 billion pesos in the quarter, which exceeded by 53.0% the one obtained a year before. It represented 45 peso cents per share, or 81 dollar cents per ADR. The company's net profit already reflects a comprehensive financing income of 310 million pesos in the quarter, as foreign exchange and monetary gains more than offset net interest expenses and other financial costs.

Telcel's subscriber base reached 44.9 million at the end of March 2007, 19.6% more than a year before and 4.1% more than the previous quarter. Net additions of 1.8 million were 5.0% above those registered in the same period of the previous year.

Revenues reached 29.2 billion Mexican pesos in the first quarter, up 14.9% from the same period a year ago with service revenues and equipment revenues growing in line. As compared to the previous quarter, service revenues grew by 4.5%. The average revenue per user during the period fell 0.4% in real terms, but actually remained flat in nominal terms. Blended minutes of use picked-up 3.0% sequentially and 18.5% year-on-year as average rates continued to come down.

EBITDA reached 15.8 billion pesos in the first three months of 2006, 24.2% above last year's figures. Strict cost controls and lower subsidies allowed Telcel's EBITDA margin to reach 54.1% in the period. The margin also reflects the benefit of volume-related discounts on equipment purchases during 2006, which were realized in the first quarter.

Claro's subscriber base grew 26.5% year-on-year to 24.6 million clients in March of 2007. During the first quarter of the year, net additions for our operations in Brazil totaled 727 thousand, slightly below the ones registered last year.

Quarter-over-quarter, revenues were down 7.9% on account of a substantial decline in equipment revenues, but service revenues increased.

Operating efficiencies, good cost containment and the scale we have built in Brazil allowed Claro's EBITDA to increase by 147.2% year-on-year and almost double as compared to the previous quarter, to 590 million reais. The EBITDA margin climbed 14 percentage points relative to a year before.
