Reminder: Certain Tiger Media Warrants to Expire February 19, 2013

Shanghai, China, February 12, 2013 – On December 5, 2012, Tiger Media, Inc. ("Tiger Media") (NYSE MKT: IDI, IDI.WS) provided holders of certain of its warrants the opportunity to exercise up to one-third of their warrants at a reduced exercise price and to extend the expiration date of a participating holder's remaining warrants, equal to two times the number of warrants exercised until December 26, 2013. The offer to exercise warrants at a reduced price began on December 5, 2012 and ended at 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on December 26, 2012. Warrants that did not participate in the offer (the "Non-Participating Warrants") remained outstanding in accordance with their terms, including the exercise price of $6.00 per share for the Public and Insider Warrants and $7.00 per share for the Underwriter Warrants.

Tiger Media hereby reminds holders of Non-Participating Warrants that those warrants expire, in accordance with their terms, on February 19, 2013. Furthermore, the NYSE MKT has notified Tiger Media that trading in the Non-Participating Warrants on the NYSE MKT will be suspended after the close of business February 12, 2013 to ensure all trades in the Non-Participating Warrants settle in time to allow the purchasers of such Non-Participating Warrants to exercise on or before February 19, 2013. Approximately 5.8 million Non-Participating Warrants remain outstanding.

A holder can obtain further information on exercising Non-Participating Warrants by contacting his or her broker or Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, the Company's transfer agent. Brokers are encouraged to contact DTC in advance of the Expiration Date to confirm the procedures for exercising Non-Participating Warrants.

Any Non-Participating Warrant that remains unexercised on the Expiration Date will expire worthless and the holder thereof will not receive any shares of Tiger Media ordinary shares for such Non-Participating Warrants.
