FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CNB FINANCIAL CORPORATION ANNOUNCES THE FORMATION OF ERIE BANK

Erie, PA October, 2005

William F. Falger, President and CEO of CNB Financial Corporation (NASDAQ: CCNE), announced today the formation of a new bank to be headquartered in Erie, Pennsylvania. The new entity, which will operate as a division of County National Bank, will be named Erie Bank and begin operations in its headquarters in Erie as early as April, 2006.

Mr. Falger also announced that David J. Zimmer, will head the Erie Bank as its President and CEO. Mr. Zimmer, a native of Erie, has over twenty years of experience in banking all in the Erie market. In addition to Mr. Zimmer, the Bank will be led by an Erie based Board of Directors made up of local business and community leaders. Members of the Board will be announced in the near future. The Board will have many responsibilities including market growth, community involvement, asset growth and lending decisions.

In commenting on this new venture Mr. Falger stated, "Our decision to form and operate Erie Bank was driven by the opportunity to serve a significant market which has seen most of its locally based banks acquired by larger institutions. We believe there is tremendous potential for a new community bank in Erie driven by a strong focus on meeting the financial needs of businesses and individuals in the way only a community bank can deliver."

Edgar Filing: CNB FINANCIAL CORP/PA - Form 8-K

During the months ahead, Mr. Zimmer will be operating a loan production office located at 1001 State Street in Erie. From this location, commercial relationships will be developed with local businesses as they are introduced to the specialized financial services offered by Erie Bank.

These services principally include commercial and industrial loans and lines of credit, corporate credit cards, cash and wealth management, online banking, electronic check deposit, merchant credit card processing, equipment leasing, accounts receivable handling, ACH origination and payroll processing.

Traditional consumer banking services such as checking, savings, time and deposit accounts, real estate, residential and consumer loans will also be available to serve the financial needs of the community. Add trust, estate and alternative investment services such as annuities and various wealth management services to the product mix and the result is a complete financial service provider.

Mr. Zimmer believes that Erie residents and business owners desire the higher level of personalized customer service that a community bank has to offer and the access to high-tech products and services that a big bank has. With Erie Bank's centralized management team and board of directors located right here in Erie, and the support of a $750 million bank holding company, I believe this is an ideal situation for the community of Erie, said Mr. Zimmer.
