MOODY'S RAISES PLDT's LOCAL CURRENCY CORPORATE FAMILY RTG TO Ba1

MOODY'S RAISES PLDT's LOCAL CURRENCY CORPORATE FAMILY RATING TO Ba1;

OUTLOOK POSITIVE

Approximately US$1 billion of Debt Securities Affected.

Sydney, December 22, 2005 -- Moody's Investors Service today upgraded the long-term ratings of Philippine Long Distance Company (PLDT). The upgrade reflects ongoing improvements in PLDT's financial profile as it continues to enjoy healthy free cash generation and reduces its debt load. At the same time Moody's withdrew PLDT's preferred stock ratings following conversion of rated stock in December 2005. The rating outlook on the local currency rating is positive, while on the foreign currency rating it is negative, reflecting the sovereign outlook.

The ratings upgraded are:

Local Currency Corporate Family Rating to Ba1 from Ba2

Foreign Currency Senior Unsecured Rating to Ba2 from Ba3

The ratings withdrawn are:

Foreign Currency Preferred Stock Rating of B1

Foreign Currency Preferred Stock Shelf Rating of (P)B1

Moody's notes the Ba1 local currency rating is principally driven by PLDT's position as the largest telecommunications operator in the Philippines, its strengthening financial profile and its free cash flow generative status. The rating also considers the effective industry duopoly prevailing in the Philippines and the rise in barriers against competitors, given the network and marketing strengths of the incumbents.

On the other hand, the rating factors in the risks associated with the political and economic uncertainty evident in the Philippines. Notably, any deterioration in the political environment or changes in the regulatory regime could impact PLDT's operating profile and/or tax base that could impair prospects for continued growth and, at the margin, impact PLDT's financial profile. PLDT's continues to be exposed the challenges of servicing foreign currency debt obligations with cash flow primarily denominated in Pesos, albeit this risk has diminished with lower levels of debt and higher effective hedging of exposure - now over 50% of debt is covered.

Moody's commented that should Smart's debt increase from its current level of 26% of PLDT's total consolidated debt, there is a possibility that structural subordination could become an issue for the ratings, although this would be a function of debt and cash flows at various entities at any given time.

Moody's notes that up to five 3G licences may be awarded in the Philippines the next six months. There is unlikely to be an upfront fee; rather, licencees will be required to have an operable service offering within 12 months and a ubiquitous offering within five years. It is likely that the current players will be awarded licences and continue to dominate the market. PLDT expects capex to rise to around P20-25 billion per annum. This would encompass both 3G buildout and upgrading of fixed line network to an all IP network. Moody's expects that PLDT will continue to generate strong free cash flows notwithstanding the increases in capex and dividends.

PLDT's current foreign currency senior unsecured debt rating of Ba2 is above the Philippines' foreign currency country ceiling of B1. The foreign currency senior unsecured debt rating incorporates convertibility risk, which is the likelihood of the government declaring a debt moratorium to counter a foreign currency crisis. Moody's views foreign currency bonds subject to international law as less likely to be subject to a debt moratorium than foreign currency obligations subject to local law.

The ratings outlook for the local currency corporate family rating is positive as a result of PLDT's strong and stable free cash flow and reducing debt. PLDT currently enjoys a healthy financial and operating risk profile, and downward pressure on the rating is not expected. Event risk is, however, apparent due to sovereign-related issues that could manifest in changes in either tax or regulatory environments.

Moody's notes the rating could experience upward pressure if there are no adverse developments with the issuance of 3G licences and the regulatory environment remains stable. There could also be upward pressure should PLDT continue to strengthen its profile through increasing profitability and decreasing debt, such that the ratio of Adj. Debt to Adj. EBITDA falls below 1.5x on a sustainable basis while achieving a ratio of FFO+Interest/Interest ratio of above 5.5x.

The foreign currency ratings have a negative outlook and would be downgraded should the Philippines' foreign currency country ceiling of B1 be downgraded.

Philippine Long Distance Company, based in Manila, Republic of Philippines, is that country's leading provider of integrated telecommunication services.
