Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

On September 15, 2008, SmartGlass International Ltd. (SGI), a licensee of Research Frontiers Inc., announced in a press release that it will launch its line of SPD-SmartGlass architectural window products at the 100% Detail show being held from September 18-21, 2008 at Earls Court in London, England.

SGI plans to exhibit four large SPD-SmartGlass panels that will be used in the walls of a circular meeting room at their stand (T28) at the show. These panels use second-generation SPD-Smart film recently supplied by Hitachi Chemical Co., Ltd. with lamination done by SGI at their new and expanded manufacturing facility in Dublin, Ireland. This 1,860 m2 (20,000 ft2) facility houses the company's design, tempering, laminating and quality control operations, and its product showroom.

SGI also noted in their press release that their company had recently completed a multi-panel roof-lite project in London.

SGI's line of SPD-SmartGlass also has been named to the short list for 100% Detail's Most Innovative Building Product Award. Supported by the industry publication Architecture Today, judging for this prestigious award is based on several factors including innovation, the use of materials and technology, and sustainability.
