Form N-30B-2

December 10, 2007

LAZARD ASSET MANAGEMENT

SEPTEMBER 30, 2007

Lazard Global Total Return & Income Fund, Inc.

Investment Overview

Dear Shareholder,

We are pleased to present the Third Quarter Report for Lazard Global Total Return & Income Fund, Inc. (["LGI" or the "Fund"]), for the period ended September 30, 2007. LGI is a diversified, closed-end management investment company that began trading on the New York Stock Exchange (["NYSE"]) on April 28, 2004. Its ticker symbol is ["LGI."].

The Fund has been in operation for almost three and a half years, and we are pleased with LGI's performance for the third quarter of 2007 and since its inception. We believe that the Fund has provided investors with an attractive yield and diversification, backed by the extensive experience, commitment, and professional management of Lazard Asset Management LLC (the ["Investment Manager" or "Lazard"]).

Portfolio Update (as of September 30, 2007)

For the third quarter of 2007, the Fund's Net Asset Value (["NAV"]) performance rose 3.6%, outperforming the Morgan Stanley Capital International (MSCI®) World® Index (the ["Index"]) return of 2.4%. For the year-to-date through September 30, 2007, the Fund's NAV return of 10.8% trailed the Index return of 11.7%. However, the Fund's since inception annualized NAV return of 16.2% has outperformed the Index return of 15.4%. Shares of LGI ended the third quarter of 2007 with a market price of $22.26, representing an 11.6% discount to the Fund's NAV of $25.19. The Fund's net assets were $242.0 million as of September 30, 2007, with total leveraged assets of $341.4 million, representing 29.1% leverage.

We believe that LGI's investment thesis remains sound as demonstrated by the Fund's favorable NAV performance since the Fund's inception. Third quarter performance benefited from stock selection in the technology, telecom services, industrials and consumer staples sectors, while returns were hurt by stock selection in the financials and materials sectors. Returns for the smaller, short-duration¹ emerging market currency and debt portion of the Fund were very strong throughout the third quarter and have been a meaningful positive contributor to performance for the year-to-date and since inception periods.

As of September 30, 2007, 66.8% of the Fund's total leveraged assets consisted of global equities and 32.6% consisted of emerging market currency and debt instruments, while the remaining 0.6% consisted of cash and other assets.

Declaration of Dividends

Pursuant to LGI's level distribution policy, the Fund's Board of Directors has declared a monthly dividend distribution of $0.1042 per share on the Fund's outstanding stock each month since inception. The Fund continues to maintain this distribution level. Furthermore, the Fund has made additional distributions of accumulated income and net realized capital gains, twice in 2006, as well as in September 2007. The cumulative distributions for the last 12 months ended September 30, 2007 totaled $2.4145 per share, representing a market yield of 10.9% (including capital gains), based on the share price of $22.26 at the close of NYSE trading on September 30, 2007. The Fund has not returned capital to investors since its inception.

On behalf of Lazard, we thank you for your investment in Lazard Global Total Return & Income Fund, Inc. and look forward to continuing to serve your investment needs in the future.

Message from the Portfolio Managers

Global Equity Portfolio
(66.8% of total leveraged assets)

The Fund's global equity portfolio is invested primarily in equity securities of large, well-known global companies with strong financial productivity at attractive valuations. Examples include GlaxoSmithKline, a global research-based pharmaceutical company based in the United Kingdom; Bank of America, a holding company that provides banking and non-banking financial services and products in the United States and internationally; Nokia Corp., a Finland-based manufacturer of mobile telephones; and Total SA, a French energy supplier that explores for, produces, refines, transports, and markets oil and natural gas.

Companies held in the global equity portfolio are all based in developed-market regions around the world. As of September 30, 2007, 46.1% of these stocks were based in North America, 26.5% were based in Continental Europe (not including the United Kingdom), 19.6% were from the United Kingdom, and 7.8% were from Japan. The global equity portfolio is similarly well diversified across a number of industry sectors. The top two sectors, by weight, at September 30, were financials (24.4%), which includes banks, insurance companies, and financial services companies, and information technology (17.6%), a sector that encompasses industries involved in the design, development, installation, and implementation of information systems and applications, including hardware, software, IT services, and media-related companies. Other sectors in the portfolio include consumer discretionary, consumer staples, energy, health care, industrials, telecommunication services, materials, and utilities. The average dividend yield on the global equity portfolio was approximately 2.2% as of September 30, 2007.

Global Equity Markets Review

Turmoil in the global credit markets triggered significant volatility in global equities during the quarter, with stocks falling sharply mid-quarter before rebounding and ending with only modest losses in local currency terms. After an extended period of easily available credit, increasing defaults among subprime U.S. mortgages led to a sharp rise in the yield spreads above Treasuries among a wide variety of debt instruments, including the LIBOR rates at which banks make loans to one another. This higher cost of short-term financing had a significant impact on banks that were reliant on this form of financing, with U.K. mortgage lender Northern Rock being bailed out by the Bank of England amid lines of customers seeking to withdraw their deposits. Stocks rallied late in the quarter, as the credit environment improved somewhat, and the U.S. Federal Reserve (the "Fed") lowered interest rates by a greater-than-expected 50 basis points to 4.75%. Financial stocks were particularly hard hit in the decline, based on concerns that they would suffer losses in their investment portfolios and reduced fee income due to a slowdown in new security issuance. In addition, investment banks that had extended financing to fund recent mergers faced losses due to their inability to resell the loans profitably in a more risk-adverse environment. Energy and materials stocks performed well, and technology stocks outperformed amid the volatility. Conversely, financial stocks under-performed, and consumer discretionary stocks were also weak, based on concerns that consumer spending would be hurt by declining housing prices. Regionally, U.S. and European markets performed roughly in line with the broad global market, while Australasia and the Far East, outside of Japan, outperformed. The U.K. and Japan markets underperformed.

What Helped and What Hurt LGI

During the third quarter of 2007, the Fund's global equity performance benefited from stock selection in the technology sector, as investors began to appreciate the consistent cash flow that large-cap, high-quality technology companies have generated in recent years. Shares of Nokia rose as the company continued to gain market share in global handsets, and holdings in IBM performed well, after the company reported solid earnings with strong revenue growth, particularly in software and services. IBM continues to drive profitability by driving more of its overall revenue to higher margin segments. Shares of Cisco also posted gains after the company reported solid earnings driven by strong revenue growth across all geographies and products. Holdings in Oracle also rose. Stock selection in telecom services aided returns, driven by the broad strength across this sector. Shares of Singapore Telecommunications rose, as the company continued to experience strong growth in developing markets and a moderation of competitive pressures in Australia. Holdings in Vodafone also performed well, based on good subscriber growth across the company's emerging markets businesses as well as the robust elasticity of demand driving European volumes at a time of forced price cuts. Performance also benefited from stock selection in the industrials and consumer staples sectors. Conversely, stock selection in financials detracted from performance, as Japanese financial holdings, such as Mitsubishi UFJ, Nomura, and Sumitomo Mitsui declined. Turmoil in the global credit markets may deter the Bank of Japan from raising interest rates, limiting the potential for these companies to increase their net interest income. However, we believe that the profitability of these companies has already improved dramatically, as the Japanese economy emerges from extended weakness. We would expect this improvement in profitability to persist as Japan's economy continues to normalize. In the materials sector, a lack of exposure to mining companies hurt returns as these stocks performed well amid buoyant commodity prices. However, we believe that valuations in this group discount an extended period of very high commodity prices. In addition, shares of CRH, a cement/aggregates producer, were hurt by weakness in cement volumes due to the U.S. housing slowdown.

Emerging Market Currency and Debt Portfolio
(32.6% of total leveraged assets)

The Fund also seeks enhanced income through investing in high-yielding, short-duration (typically, under one year) emerging market forward currency contracts and local currency debt instruments. As of September 30, 2007, this portfolio consisted primarily of forward currency contracts (71.7%) and a smaller allocation to sovereign debt obligations (23.9%) and structured notes (4.4%). The average duration of the emerging market currency and debt portfolio was approximately 8.5 months, as of September 30, with an average yield of 8.0%.²

Emerging Market Currency and Debt Market Review

The third quarter saw the meltdown in the U.S. housing market spill over into the financial markets. The lack of transparency surrounding the true quality of debt assets held in funds as well as in other structured investment vehicles, which are essentially off-balance sheet entities set up by banks, led to widespread fears about the extent of the liabilities that would have to be absorbed back onto the banks' balance sheets. This resulted in a drastic decline in inter-bank lending and a scarcity of funds, even for overnight tenors. The Fed responded by easing rates, and market risk appetite sharply rebounded, as belief took hold that the Fed recognized the seriousness of the situation and would act preemptively. Surprisingly, central banks in a number of emerging countries hiked rates in the face of the inter-bank credit squeeze and Fed's easing, as the theme of energy and food price inflation continued. Official policy rates moved upward in such diverse countries as Peru, Chile, the Czech Republic, Poland, South Africa, Colombia, Israel, China, and Taiwan. Other emerging market central banks permitted currency strength/appreciation as their monetary tightening instrument of choice, by reducing their currency market intervention to buy U.S. dollars. Notable currency appreciation occurred in such diverse markets as Kuwait, Nigeria, Mauritius, Egypt, India, Russia, and the Philippines. Importantly, with strong balance of payments within these countries, and rising inflationary risks in many emerging economies, continued monetary tightening outside of the U.S further enhances emerging market central bank credibility, as country-specific issues dictate policy response, more than global liquidity concerns.

We retain a positioning bias in fundamentally sound countries and low correlated frontier markets that we believe will outperform under such conditions. Our exposure to sovereign credit risk remains low, as we are capturing similar levels of compensation in the currency forward market, while incurring considerably fewer (duration, convertibility, liquidity, credit, regulatory, etc.) risks.

What Helped and What Hurt LGI

Nearly every position in the Fund's emerging market currency and debt portfolio contributed to its strong positive performance in the third quarter. Holdings in the Middle East were strong contributors, particularly those in Turkey and Israel. In addition, the portfolio benefited from timely positioning ahead of the Kuwaiti dinar's 2.0% revaluation in July. In Europe, the portfolio took profits as the Slovakia koruna experienced near-record strength in July. Returns also benefited from the portfolio's lack of exposure to Romania, as the leu depreciated by nearly 10.0% in the third quarter. Latin America was a strong contributor to performance, due to the portfolio's heavy Brazilian exposure.

In the Commonwealth of Independent States and Baltic region, returns were boosted by holdings in Russia, Ukraine, and Kazakhstan. In Russia, where the portfolio has sizeable exposure, current and capital account surpluses as well as EUR/$ strength within the central bank's dual-currency basket management led to strong performance. In Africa, holdings in uncorrelated countries, such as Tanzania, Nigeria, and Egypt helped to insulate the emerging market currency and debt portfolio during the jittery global market environment in July and August. Uganda detracted from performance as the unexpected cancellation of two T-bill auctions prompted shilling depreciation due to the resultant excess money market liquidity.

Notes to Investment Overview:

- 1 A measure of the average cash weighted term-to-maturity of the investment holdings. Duration is a measure of the price sensitivity of a bond to interest rate movements. Duration for a forward currency contract is equal to its term-to-maturity.
- 2 The quoted yield does not account for the implicit cost of borrowing on the forward currency contracts, which would reduce the yield shown.

Dividend Reinvestment Plan

Unless you elect to receive distributions in cash (i.e., opt-out), all dividends, including any capital gain distributions, on your Common Stock will be automatically reinvested by Computershare, Inc., as dividend disbursing agent (the "Plan Agent"), in additional Common Stock under the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment Plan (the "Plan"). You may elect not to participate in the Plan by contacting the Plan Agent. If you do not participate, you will receive all distributions in cash, paid by check mailed directly to you by the Plan Agent.

Under the Plan, the number of shares of Common Stock you will receive will be determined on the dividend or distribution payment date, as follows:

- (1) If the Common Stock is trading at or above net asset value at the time of valuation, the Fund will issue new shares at a price equal to the greater of (i) net asset value per Common Share on that date or (ii) 95% of the Common Stock's market price on that date.
- (2) If the Common Stock is trading below net asset value at the time of valuation, the Plan Agent will receive the dividend or distribution in cash and will purchase Common Stock in the open market, on the NYSE or elsewhere, for the participants' accounts. It is possible that the market price for the Common Stock may increase before the Plan Agent has completed its purchases. Therefore, the average purchase price per share paid by the Plan Agent may exceed the market price at the time of valuation, resulting in the purchase of fewer shares than if the dividend or distribution had been paid in Common Stock issued by the Fund. The Plan Agent will use all dividends and distributions received in cash to purchase Common Stock in the open market within 30 days of the valuation date. Interest will not be paid on any uninvested cash payments.

You may withdraw from the Plan at any time by giving written notice to the Plan Agent. If you withdraw or the Plan is terminated, you will receive whole shares in your account under the Plan and you will receive a cash payment for any fraction of a share in your account. If you wish, the Plan Agent will sell your shares and send you the proceeds, minus an initial $15 service fee plus $0.12 per share being liquidated (for processing and brokerage expenses).

The Plan Agent maintains all stockholders' accounts in the Plan and gives written confirmation of all transactions in the accounts, including information you may need for tax records. Shares of Common Stock in your account will be held by the Plan Agent in non-certificated form. Any proxy you receive will include all Common Stock you have received under the Plan.

There is no brokerage charge for reinvestment of your dividends or distributions in newly-issued shares of Common Stock. However, all participants will pay a pro rata share of brokerage commissions incurred by the Plan Agent when it makes open market purchases.

Automatically reinvesting dividends and distributions does not mean that you do not have to pay income taxes due upon receiving dividends and distributions.

If you hold your Common Stock with a brokerage firm that does not participate in the Plan, you will not be able to participate in the Plan and any dividend reinvestment may be effected on different terms than those described above. Consult your financial advisor for more information.

The Fund reserves the right to amend or terminate the Plan if, in the judgment of the Board of Directors, the change is warranted. There is no direct service charge to participants in the Plan (other than the service charge when you direct the Plan Agent to sell your Common Stock held in a dividend reinvestment account); however, the Fund reserves the right to amend the Plan to include a service charge payable by the participants. Additional information about the Plan may be obtained from the Plan Agent at P.O. Box 43010, Providence, Rhode Island 02940-3010.
