FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

TURKCELL SETTLES ITS INFRASTRUCTURE USAGE DISPUTE WITH TURK TELEKOM

Istanbul, Turkey: October 14, 2004 - Turkcell (NYSE: TKC, ISE: TCELL), the leading provider of mobile communications in Turkey, announced today that it has settled its infrastructure usage dispute with Turk Telekom by an amicable agreement.

The agreement followed settlement talks conducted under the Cabinet's decree dated August 18, 2004, which set forth the rules and procedures to be followed by the government entities to settle their disputes with third parties through negotiation.

Settlement of the infrastructure usage dispute. Turkcell and Turk Telekom calculated Turk Telekom's receivables as TL102,048,720 million (US$69 million as of October 13, 2004) including principal, interest, Value Added Tax ("VAT") and Special Communications Tax ("SCT") and Turkcell's receivables as TL39,451,875 million (US$27 million as of October 13, 2004). Turkcell's receivables arose from a legal decision in favor of Turkcell in the lawsuit filed against Turk Telekom's collection of 15% fund payment through withholding payments to Turkcell. After netting the receivables, Turkcell and Turk Telekom agreed that Turkcell owed Turk Telekom TL62,596,845 million (US$42 million as of October 13, 2004), including principal, interest, VAT and SCT.

This agreed amount will be paid to Turk Telekom in 10 installments with interest, while Turkcell has option to pay all or a portion of its debt, set forth by the settlement agreement, prior to the date determined by the installment plan. The interest rate used in this calculation will be the monthly interest rate calculated from the annual simple interest rate of the most recent TL denominated discount bond issued by the Turkish Treasury prior to the actual monthly installment. Turkcell will finance such payment from internal sources.

Based on the Cabinet's decree dated August 18, 2004 and Turkcell's estimates based on its settlement strategies, Turkcell's net provisions totaled TL39,814,350 million (US$27 million as of June 30, 2004) in its financial statements for the six months ended June 30, 2004, including principal and interest (excluding VAT and SCT), for the above mentioned disputes.

Turkcell and Turk Telekom will make all necessary applications and start all necessary procedures for ending the court cases on above mentioned disputes between them within one month.

The terms of the settlement agreement became effective as of the signing of this settlement agreement on October 13, 2004, and today Turkcell paid TL7,287,684

- o The TL/US$ exchange rate used in this press release equals to TL1,483,243, which is the Turkish Central Bank's closing ask price as of October 13, 2004.
