On the afternoon of June 27, 2008, Gary Rutledge, Vice President-Legal and Government Affairs, of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., issued the following statement to the media:

The Anheuser-Busch board of directors unanimously determined that InBev's unsolicited, non-binding proposal is financially inadequate and not in the best interests of our shareholders.

We are focused on educating lawmakers on the reasons supporting the board's decision, including the merits of Anheuser-Busch's strategic plan to generate growth and why this plan is the most effective way to increase value for the company's shareholders.

Anheuser-Busch has for many years maintained a significant presence in Washington, D.C., and in state capitols throughout the country, and we are well-prepared to effectively represent the interests of the company and its shareholders on this issue. We are very gratified by the outpouring of support we have received to date.
