COMPANY PROFILE

OCTOBER 2001

The J. M. Smucker Company, headquartered in Orrville, Ohio, is the leading marketer of jams, jellies, preserves and other fruit spreads in the U.S. It is also the leader in dessert toppings, natural peanut butter and health and natural foods juice products. The Smucker's brand is widely known and trusted for quality food products.

In addition to the Smucker's brand, Smucker markets products under numerous other brands including Dickinson's, Mary Ellen, Laura Scudder's, Adams, IXL (Australia), Double Fruit (Canada), The R. W. Knudsen Family, and Santa Cruz Organic. The Company distributes its consumer products through grocery and other retail outlets, foodservice establishments, specialty and gourmet shops, health and natural foods stores, and consumer direct vehicles such as the Internet and a showcase store in Orrville, Ohio.

Smucker also produces industrial ingredients such as fruit fillings and toppings for use by other food manufacturers in their products. The Company has international operations in Australia, Canada, Scotland, Mexico, and Brazil and exports product to numerous other areas, including the United Kingdom, Eastern Europe, South and Central America, and Asia. In October 2001, it announced that it reached a definitive agreement with Procter & Gamble to merge the Jif peanut butter and Crisco oils businesses into the Smucker Company in an all-stock transaction.

HIGHLIGHTS OF JIF AND CRISCO TRANSACTION

- Jif and Crisco brands and the associated assets will be spun off from the existing P&G Company and then immediately merged with The J.M. Smucker Company
- P&G shareholders will receive one share of new J.M. Smucker stock for every 50 shares they hold in Procter & Gamble
- Smucker sales are expected to approximately double, to $1.3 billion, with the successful closing of the transaction
- Transaction uses a "Revised Morris Trust" structure
- Expanded Smucker Company will include the Jif and Crisco manufacturing plants in Lexington, KY, and Cincinnati, OH
- This transaction is expected to close during second quarter of calendar 2002, conditioned on the receipt of required shareholder and regulatory approvals
- Actual results may differ materially from expected results because of changes in market conditions, uncertainties relating to necessary approvals including IRS ruling, risks of integration, and other factors

HISTORY

In the early 19th century, John Chapman, or "Johnny Appleseed," wandered the Ohio countryside, sowing apple seeds and securing a place in American legend. It was from the fruit of Johnny Appleseed's trees that Orrville, Ohio, resident Jerome Monroe Smucker first pressed cider at a mill he opened in 1897. Later, he also prepared apple butter, which he sold from the back of a horse-drawn wagon. Each crock bore a hand-signed seal as his personal guarantee of quality.

Before long, J. M. Smucker's name became well known in its own right, as residents throughout the region - and eventually the nation - came to associate the Smucker's name with wholesome, high-quality fruit products. Much like Johnny Appleseed's trees, The J. M. Smucker Company has strong roots that have allowed it to grow and prosper over the last 100 years. Today, its products can be found in homes and restaurants throughout the world.

STRENGTHS/BENEFITS

- Accretive to Smucker earnings; provides significant cash flows; requires no debt
- Strengthen Smucker position to acquire other complementary leading food brands

Edgar Filing: PROCTER & GAMBLE CO - Form 425

- The Jif and Crisco brands are a strategic fit
