Section 16(a) Beneficial Ownership Reporting Compliance

Section 16(a) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the Exchange Act ) requires the Company s officers (as defined in regulations promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission ( SEC ) thereunder), directors and persons who own more than ten percent (10%) of a registered class of the Company s equity securities to file reports of ownership and changes in ownership with the SEC. Officers, directors and greater than ten percent (10%) stockholders are required by SEC regulation to furnish the Company with copies of all Section 16(a) forms they file.

Based solely on a review of Forms 3 and 4 and amendments thereto furnished to the Company during fiscal year 2006, Forms 5 and amendments thereto furnished to the Company with respect to fiscal year 2006, and any written representations provided by a director or officer that no Form 5 is required with respect to fiscal year 2006, the Company believes that during fiscal year 2006 its officers and directors complied with all filing requirements. The Company does not have any greater than ten percent (10%) beneficial owners.

Audit Committee

The Audit Committee consists of Harriet Edelman, John O. Hanna, Craig N. Johnson and Michael A. Schuler. The Audit Committee met six times during 2006. The Audit Committee assists the Board of Directors in fulfilling its responsibilities concerning corporate accounting, the reporting practices of the Company and the integrity and quality of financial reports of the Company. All members of the Audit Committee are independent as that term is defined by the American Stock Exchange. Michael A. Schuler is the Audit Committee Financial Expert as that term is defined in Item 401(h) of Regulation S-K.

Code of Ethics

The Board expects all directors, as well as officers and employees, to act ethically at all times and to adhere to the policies outlined in our Corporate Code of Conduct and Ethics. The Board also expects the Principal Executive Officer and the Principal Financial Officer to adhere to the Company s Code of Ethics for the Principal Executive Officer and Principal Financial Officer. These documents, as well as all of our charters for standing Board committees, can be found at www.blair.com.

Compensation Committee Report

The Compensation Committee has reviewed the Compensation Discussion and Analysis and discussed that Analysis with management. Based on its review and discussions with management, the Compensation Committee recommended to our Board of Directors that the Compensation Discussion and Analysis be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K/A for 2006. This report is provided by the following independent directors, who comprise the committee:

Shelley J. Seifert, Chair

Cynthia A. Fields

Craig N. Johnson

Murray K. McComas

Ronald L. Ramseyer

Compensation Discussion and Analysis

Objectives of the Executive Compensation Program

The executive compensation program includes a number of components, each targeted toward a focused set of goals and objectives. The specific objectives of our compensation program are to:

- n Attract and retain executives to serve as leaders of the corporation
- n Align executive goals, objectives and rewards with long-term stockholder interests
- n Foster a pay for performance culture; and
- n Provide market based compensation programs aligned with the 50th percentile and commensurate with the executive's contribution and commitment to the Company.

The Company has designed the compensation program based on a set of core principles which we believe support our overall objectives:

- n The compensation program will be fair and competitive, from an internal and external perspective, taking into account the role and distinct responsibilities of each executive.
- n A significant portion of an executive's compensation will be at risk and linked to the achievement of both corporate and individual goals and changes in shareholder value.
- n Retirement benefits will provide financial stability following employment but will not be the focal point of why executives choose to work for the Company.
- n The use of perquisites and other executive benefits will be negligible and of minimal cost to the Company.
- n All compensation program elements taken as a whole will help focus executives to achieve the Company's financial goals.

Overview of the Executive Compensation Program. Our executive compensation program contains both cash and stock-based components designed to meet specific objectives of the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors (the Committee). The Committee considers both short-term and long-term company and individual goals and strives to develop incentives that motivate executives to achieve these goals. Cash payments are provided through an executive's base salary and a performance-based short-term incentive paid annually when earned. Company stock is provided through the use of time-vesting restricted stock. The Committee has chosen to align its cash incentive program with the achievement of short-term internal financial goals and a portion of its long-term stock program with the accomplishment of long-term internal financial goals and stock price appreciation.

Table of Contents

Executives participate in a retirement plan similar to all other employees and are provided with a limited number of perquisites (i.e., financial/tax counseling, estate planning) that the committee believes are common in the market and are of minimal cost to the Company. Executives are also provided severance benefits for certain types of terminations (including change in control situations) from the Company. The Committee believes that the compensation elements taken as a whole are appropriate to recruit and retain the best executive talent for the Company and its shareholders.

Long Term Incentive Plan. The Committee believes that a significant portion of an executive's compensation should be delivered through performance-based incentive compensation components. The Committee has identified meaningful financial and non-financial performance objectives that align with our business strategy. The Committee uses annual and long-term financial performance metrics and goals as the basis for motivating and rewarding executives through the Company's short-term and long-term incentive plans. The Committee believes that a portion of an executive's compensation should be delivered in the form of company stock, thereby creating alignment between the executive and shareholders.

The use of incentive plans allows the Committee to provide a level of compensation to executives that correlates with the performance of the Company. Both of our incentive plans (short-term and long-term) are targeted to reward executives at the middle (50th percentile) of the market. The market includes similar positions within like industries and of similar revenue scope. If the Company's performance exceeds our goals and expectations, the incentive plans are designed to pay above the targeted level and therefore, above the middle of the market. If the Company's performance falls below our goals and expectations, the incentive plans are designed to pay below the targeted level or below the middle of the market. Our incentive plans are designed to pay nothing if actual performance falls below threshold level. Also, our Long Term Incentive Plan rewards executives with an amount of cash or a number of shares based on our internal financial performance over a three year period.

A table describing the estimated future allocation of our named executive officers at threshold, target, and maximum levels can be found on page 16.

Determination of Executive Compensation Amounts

Compensation Oversight Process. The Committee has responsibility for the oversight of executive compensation and recommends compensation planning to the Board for final approval. Periodically, the Committee seeks the advice of outside compensation consultants to provide assistance and guidance on compensation issues. The consultants have provided the Committee with relevant information pertaining to market compensation levels, alternative compensation plan design, market trends and best practices. The Committee considers the impact of tax and accounting treatment for the different types of compensation it approves and ensures that compensation programs comply with federal tax, regulatory, accounting and SEC requirements.

The Committee met six times in 2006. At its meetings, the Committee may hold executive sessions, which exclude management. Management assists in the coordination and preparation of the meeting agenda and materials for each meeting, which are reviewed and approved by the Committee Chair. Following the Chairman's approval, meeting materials are mailed to Committee members for review approximately one week in advance of each meeting.

Role of Executive Officers in the Compensation Process. The Committee recommends all compensation decisions for the Company's executive officers and the Board gives final approval. While the Committee makes all recommendations related to the Chief Executive Officer's compensation, the Committee does consider the recommendations of the Chief Executive Officer when making compensation decisions regarding all other executive officers and checks for reasonableness within the established pay guidelines of the Company. Management works with the outside consultant by providing internal information as necessary to facilitate comparisons of the Company's compensation programs to the market.

Establishing Compensation Levels. The Committee reviews data related to compensation levels and programs of other companies prior to making its decisions. Each year, an outside consultant performs an assessment of compensation levels provided to the Company's executives. The consultant uses a benchmarking process that compares elements of the Company's compensation programs with those of other companies that have similar characteristics. The purpose of this process is to:

Understand the competitiveness of current pay levels for each executive position relative to companies with similar revenues and business characteristics

- n Identify and understand any gaps that may exist between actual compensation levels and market compensation levels; and

n Serve as a basis for developing salary adjustments and short-term and long-term incentive awards for the Compensation Committee's approval.

The consultant uses market compensation data from reputable compensation surveys representing retail and general industry companies. Compensation levels are developed to target the middle (50th percentile) of the market for each pay element and in total.

The Company, with the help of the consultant, has developed a compensation structure that includes individual grades for executives, each with its own compensation opportunities. Each executive has been assigned to a grade, determined by comparing Company-defined position-specific duties and responsibilities with the survey compensation data. Each grade has a base salary range with a midpoint that aligns with the market 50th percentile for that particular position. Each salary grade also has a corresponding short-term and long-term incentive opportunity that aligns with the market 50th percentile. The Committee considers other factors when making compensation decisions, such as an executive's individual performance, level of industry-related experience, time in the position and the size of prior-year adjustments. The Committee does not consider amounts from prior performance-based compensation, such as prior year incentive awards, in its decisions to increase or decrease compensation in the current year. The Committee believes that this would not be in the best interest of retaining and motivating the executive.

Elements of Executive Compensation

Fixed Cash Base Salary. Base salaries provided to executives represent the foundation of the Company's compensation program. Through this element, the Company seeks to recruit and retain competent executives by providing a salary level that approximates the 50th percentile of salaries for executives in comparable positions at other similarly-sized companies. Other benefits offered by the Company, such as short-term and long-term incentive opportunities, certain health and welfare benefits and retirement benefits, are a function of an executive's base salary. The Company attempts to manage each executive's base salary to within a competitive zone for each position. We define the competitive zone as plus or minus 10% of the salary grade midpoint for each executive position.

The Committee approves a merit pool for executives. Merit increases are determined based on individual performance, accountability and contribution to corporate goals as well as the overall financial position of the Company. The CEO's performance review is conducted by the Chairman of the Board of Directors and the performance review of each senior executive is conducted by the CEO. Senior executives conduct all other executive reviews. Merit recommendations are based on the performance rating and position in the pay range and all pay recommendations for executives are approved by the CEO. The Executives make salary recommendations to the CEO for their direct reports within a standardized and budgeted merit pool which is reviewed annually by the Committee and compared to market surveys prepared by the consultant. In making decisions regarding base salary adjustments for purposes of developing a merit budget, the Committee also considers current business conditions and base salary adjustment survey data projections, in addition to individual performance ratings.

Performance-Based Short-Term Cash Incentive Compensation. Through the short-term incentive program, the Company seeks to align the interests of the executives with the annual financial and non-financial goals of the Company. In 2006, the target award for the CEO was 50% of his base salary and for the other named executive officers, target award opportunities ranged between 35% and 40% of their base salaries. Award opportunities under the plan can range from 50% of target for threshold performance to 200% of target for maximum performance. Actual awards paid for 2006 performance are included in the Summary Compensation Table on page 15 under the column Non-Equity Incentive Plan Compensation, while opportunities under this plan for 2006 at threshold, target and maximum are included in the Grants of Plan-Based Awards table on page 16 under the columns Estimated Future Payouts Under Long-Term Incentive Plan.

For 2006, short-term incentive awards for all executive officers were based on pre-determined goals and metrics which were approved by the Committee at its January 2006 meeting. The weights assigned to these goals were as follows:

Pre-Established

Performance Measure	Weight	Actual Performance	2006 Short-Term Incentive Goals
			Threshold	Target	Maximum
Corporate Income Before Income Taxes	90%	($449,790)	$18.0mm	$25.7mm	$33.4mm
Individual Performance Objectives	10%			Varies by Executive

Corporate earnings before income taxes was chosen as an indicator of profit produced directly as a result of the executives' performance. In addition to this corporate goal, each executive has between three and five individual strategic financial and non-financial goals that align with their area of responsibility. Overall, the Committee believes that corporate profitability is of utmost importance and therefore, has assigned a significant weighting to the corporate earnings before income taxes measure. The Company did not meet the threshold performance goal and there was no opportunity to earn a bonus. The Committee has the ability to use its discretion in determining the size of any bonus award and has done so in recent years, however the Committee prefers to use this discretion only in extreme circumstances.

Long-term Incentive Compensation. The Company's long-term incentive compensation program seeks to align the executives' interests with the Company's shareholders. Additionally, the Committee desires to foster an ownership mentality among executives by providing stock-based incentives as a meaningful portion of compensation. In determining which type of vehicles to include in the program, the Committee chose to focus on rewarding for the following attributes:

- n Increases in long-term total shareholder return (stock price appreciation plus dividends);
- n Increases in long-term earnings before income taxes; and
- n Continued loyalty and employment with the Company

The Committee also considered other issues in selecting the most appropriate long-term incentive vehicles such as: share usage/availability, shareholder dilution concerns and performance orientation. In 2006, the Company's long-term incentive compensation programs consisted of equal portions of time-vesting restricted stock long term incentive awards which are payable in cash or at the option of the Company, stock or a combination of both.

Under the terms of the Company's Omnibus Stock Plan, approved by shareholders in 2000, the Committee determines which employees are eligible to receive equity awards, the value and number of share grants, the rate and period of vesting, performance goals and other relevant terms.

In determining the long-term incentive awards for 2006, the Company, with the assistance of an outside consultant, conducted an evaluation of long-term incentive compensation provided to executives at retail and general industry companies of similar size as part of its annual benchmarking process. The market-based long-term incentive component amount, which reflects the market 50th percentile and differs for each salary grade, is then allocated equally between the two long-term incentive vehicles:

- n Time-vesting restricted stock  $\frac{3}{4}$  50%
- n Performance shares/cash or combination  $\frac{3}{4}$  50%

Time-Vesting Restricted Stock. The Committee has selected restricted stock that vests based on the passage of time and continued employment as a component of our long-term incentive program. Grants of restricted shares vest in equal increments over the five year period following the date of grant. The fair value of restricted shares is calculated on the date of grant and expensed over the vesting period. Upon voluntary separation from the Company, any unvested shares are forfeited. When shares vest, the Company receives a tax deduction that corresponds to the amount of taxable income recognized by the executive. Executives receive a new grant of time-vesting restricted stock each year in January.

On several occasions in 2006, Blair provided newly hired executives with a grant of time-vested restricted stock in order to provide an immediate ownership stake in the Company and as a means of attracting the candidate to join the Company. These grants of restricted stock equally vest over a five year period and any unvested stock will be forfeited should the executive voluntarily leave the Company prior to meeting any portion of the vesting requirement.

Long Term Incentive Plan. In order to enhance the performance orientation of our executive compensation program and to motivate executives to achieve long-term financial performance, the Committee has adopted a long term incentive plan. The Committee has selected long term compensation as a means of driving performance results and rewarding executives for delivering cumulative levels of income before income taxes at the end of a three year performance period. Similar to our short-term cash incentive plan, the Committee believes that earnings before income taxes falls within the responsibility of executives and is a metric within our long-term strategic plan and is an excellent means of evaluating the profitability of the Company.

Executives receive communication about new awards after the first Compensation Committee meeting of the year. A target is identified and communicated to the executives at the beginning of the performance period, but not actually delivered to the executive until the three year audited results are determined. Any shares earned are at the end of the performance period. The number of shares earned may vary from zero to 200% of target, based on the Company's actual cumulative earnings before income taxes over a cumulative three year period relative to the goal established at the beginning of the period. At the end of the performance period, the Committee may use its discretion to modify the form of payment from all shares to cash or a combination of stock and cash. In January 2006, the Committee approved the following goals for the performance period beginning in January 2006 and ending in December 2008. The Company entered into a definitive merger agreement on January 23, 2007. If the proposal is accepted at the shareholder meeting scheduled for April 24, 2007, the single trigger event of the change in control would result in shares vesting and the named executive officers would receive the benefit of the payment of any outstanding shares at a price of $42.50 a share.

Corporate Earnings Before Income Taxes	Award to Executive as a Percent of Target Opportunity
Below $50.47 million	No payout
$50.47 million	50% (minimum award)
$72.1million	100% (target award)
$93.73 million or greater	200% (maximum award)

Interpolation is used to calculate actual awards when performance falls between minimum and target, and target and maximum. The Committee has enhanced awards for above target performance as a means of motivating executives to deliver and perform above Company expectations. The fair value of performance shares is calculated on the date of grant and expensed over the vesting period. When shares vest, the Company receives a tax deduction that corresponds to the amount of taxable income recognized by the executive.

Stock Option and Other Equity Granting Policy

The procedure for making equity grants to executive officers has been as follows:

- n Equity grant guidelines are developed by our consultant and are determined by using the binomial pricing model which includes an assumption for the closing price of Company common stock when the grants will be made and a weighting of the type of equity grants to be made, i.e., time-vesting restricted stock or performance shares.
- n The Chief Executive Officer recommends actual equity grants for each of the executive officers to the Compensation Committee, generally at the first meeting of the year, and any grants to the CEO are determined by the Committee.

Grants to executive officers, as approved by the Committee, are communicated to the grantees by the CEO. The Chairman of the Committee informs the CEO of his annual award.

The Company does not use stock options and has not and does not plan to time the release of material non-public information for the purpose of affecting the value of executive compensation.

Stock Ownership Policy

The Company does not have a formal stock ownership policy; however, the Committee encourages ownership through purchases and holding stock. The Committee finds the level of ownership to be adequate when considering the tenure and experience of the executive team.

Retirement Plan Summary

The Company maintains a defined contribution plan, which is otherwise known as the Blair Corporation 401k/Savings Plan, as well as a performance-based Profit Sharing plan whose company contribution is based on the profitability of the Company. The purpose of both of these plans is to provide post-retirement compensation and financial security to executives and employees. It is the goal of the Committee, Trustees of the Plan and the Company's Board of Directors that these plans be competitive with plans which would be available to executives of similar companies. Our retirement program substantially mirrors the program provided to all other company employees.

Perquisites

The Committee provides a limited number of perquisites to executives as part of their overall annual compensation. Executives are provided with ten (10) hours of annual professional financial assistance that focuses on:

n Tax return preparation

n Estate planning

n Financial planning

The Committee deems these benefits appropriate to understanding and efficiently utilizing the Company's executive compensation program.

Severance Policy

Blair has executed change in control agreements with executive officers that provide for cash payments and benefits in the event of termination by the Company other than for cause by the executive within three years of a change in control of the Company. The Committee believes that this provision encourages a potential buyer of the Company to treat current executives fairly and provides current shareholders protection in terms of maintaining consistency of the executive team. Further, the Committee believes that providing severance in a change-in-control situation is beneficial to shareholders so that executives may remain indifferent when evaluating a transaction that may be beneficial to shareholders yet could negatively impact the continued employment of the executive.

Executives also participate in a general corporate-wide severance policy that provides cash benefits should an executive's position be terminated on an involuntary not-for-cause basis. The Committee views both of these severance protection plans as a component of compensation which is necessary to attract and retain executives. Details of the agreements and a quantification of severance amounts payable under certain termination scenarios are included in the narrative beginning on page 17.

Adjustments or Recovery of Prior Compensation

Blair does not presently have any policies or practices that provide for the recovery or adjustment of amounts previously awarded or paid to a named executive officer in the event that financial results or other performance measures on which an award or payment were based were to be restated or adjusted. However, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 requires the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer to disgorge any awards received that would not have been received, but for any error that resulted in a restatement of financial results.

Impact of Tax and Accounting Policy on Executive Compensation

If an executive officer's compensation from the Company were to exceed $1 million in any taxable year (which the Committee does not expect), the excess over $1.0 million, with certain exceptions, would not be deductible by the Company, under Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. The Committee is aware of this rule, and will take it into account if the $1.0 million limit is ever applicable. One exception to the disallowance of such deductions under Section 162(m) involves compensation paid pursuant to stockholder-approved compensation plans that are performance-based. The Company's Omnibus Stock Plan contains provisions which are intended to cause grants of performance-based awards under such plan to be eligible for this performance-based exception (so that compensation upon the vesting of performance-share awards should be deductible under the Code). Payments of cash compensation related to our base salary and short-term incentive programs and the value of shares that vested in 2006 from grants of time-vesting restricted stock are not eligible for this performance-based exception.

The Committee is aware of the impact on the Company's financial statements of providing stock-based compensation, which the Company accounts for under FAS 123(R), Share-Based Payment.

ITEM 13. CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS

Not applicable.

ITEM 14. PRINCIPAL ACCOUNTANT FEES AND SERVICES

The Company's independent public accountants for the year ended December 31, 2006 were Ernst & Young LLP. The Audit Committee of the Company's Board of Directors has reappointed Ernst & Young LLP to continue as independent public accountants for the Company for the year ending December 31, 2007, subject to the ratification of such appointment by the stockholders. Fees for the last two fiscal years were:

	2006	2005
Audit Fees	$ 630,926	$ 718,448
Audit-Related Fees(1)	1,500	44,800
Tax Fees(2)	8,864	14,398
All Other Fees

- (1) Fees billed for assurance and related services relating to online advisory services in 2006 and audit and financial statements (Profit Sharing and Savings Plan Audit) in 2005.
- (2) Fees billed for professional services rendered for tax consulting in 2006 and for foreign tax services in 2005.

The Audit Committee has adopted a policy that requires advance approval of all audit, audit-related, tax services, and other services performed by the independent public accountant. The policy provides for pre-approval by the Audit Committee of specifically defined audit and non-audit services. Unless the specific service has been previously pre-approved with respect to that year, the Audit Committee must approve the permitted service before the independent public accountant is engaged to perform it. The Audit Committee has delegated to the Chair of the Audit Committee authority to approve permitted services provided that the Chair reports any decisions to the Committee at its next scheduled meeting.

All audit-related services, tax services and other services were pre-approved by the Audit Committee, which concluded that the provision of such services by Ernst & Young LLP was compatible with the maintenance of that firm's independence in the conduct of its auditing functions.
